

Pure, unbridled masculinity

6 upvotes | 1 November, 2015 | by InscrutablePUA

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VTwbKryrhks>

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

kempff • -1 points • 2 November, 2015 03:55 AM

Synchronized dancing is not masculinity.

The country is called New Zealand, not Maoriland. Think about that.

EscapedTheMatrix • 1 point • 3 November, 2015 04:48 AM

Not sure what your point is, but the All Blacks win something like 9 out of every 10 games they play and are undisputed as the best rugby team in the world. Think about that.

kempff • 2 points • 3 November, 2015 05:34 AM

The country was named by the invaders, who were evidently more powerful than the natives. I'd say the invaders were more manly.

I thought the point of the video was to show the dance, not to show the team, of which I have never heard since as an American I don't know squat about the rest of the world.