

Just got back from a wedding and noticed some telling body language.

April 15, 2018 | 216 upvotes | by ManIsWalking

The bride kept closing her eyes during every line of her vows. Maybe I'm reading into it a bit, but I know that when I personally lie, I have a habit of looking away or closing my eyes. And I don't even mean she was blinking, she was straight keeping her eyes shut during every line of her vows. If she wasn't saying shit, she was staring the groom in the face. But when it came to her part of the vows, couldn't look her new husband in the eyes.

Oh well, RIP anyways. Hit F for another downed soldier.

I think you're spot on. Usually women are flawless well-practised liars but sometimes the truth leaks out their body.

And if you ever mentioned it, all the thots would be defending her afterwards:

Jeez, she's just nervous. This is the most important day in her life and people do strange things when they're that emotional. Gawd!

sweettenderhotjuicy • 12 points • 15 April, 2018 04:42 PM

Strange things like cheat and lie?

xstalphi • 8 points • 15 April, 2018 05:20 PM

if she cheated it was because he couldnt keep her happy!

sweettenderhotjuicy • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 05:33 PM

Maybe she wasn't happy to begin with and she's wasting everyone's time?

xstalphi • 9 points • 15 April, 2018 06:05 PM

Women are incapable of happiness

funinsun10 • 3 points • 16 April, 2018 12:00 AM

That was awesome dear, but that was yesterday

[deleted] • 71 points • 15 April, 2018 07:49 AM*

Yep. I believe it. It's painfully common for women to marry/date/fuck men they don't have genuine feelings for. This is a significant factor behind a HUGE range of relationship problems - high divorce rates, cheating, sexless marriage, resentment, game playing, constant nagging, lack of affection, flakiness, demanding/high-maintenance behavior, etc.

rationalthought314 • 30 points • 15 April, 2018 09:32 AM

It's painfully common for women to marry/date/fuck men they don't have genuine feelings for.

Yeah women will rope a guy into marriage whom they don't even love which will be their reason for cheating and/or divorce. They'll get married because all their friends are getting married and they feel time is ticking down but down the road the marriage will most likely fail because she never loved the guy and her contempt will manifest in constant nagging and weight gain.

[deleted] • 14 points • 15 April, 2018 11:04 AM*

Exactly. Most of women's bad behavior in relationships is simply their lack of sexual attraction revealing itself. Playing "dread game" might force her into obligated compliance, but it will never trigger genuine sexual attraction. The assumption otherwise is a dangerous error the redpill/pua community makes. They're just asking to get oops'ed, metoo'ed, or sodomized by her divorce lawyer.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 April, 2018 09:08 PM

whats dread game lol

[deleted] • 2 points • 16 April, 2018 02:49 AM*

Manipulating the situation to trigger a woman's fear of losing the relationship. One example would be making her believe you have other options. Googling the words "dread game" should pull up some pages that can explain it better than I could. It's a VERY popular teaching in the redpill community. Personally, I don't recommend putting too much faith in them. Attraction is far simpler and less convoluted than they want to believe.

women have no idea what they want and men will waste time, money, and energy trying to figure it out for them.

[deleted] • 7 points • 15 April, 2018 09:09 AM cannot agree more. they call us shallow, but at least i know i want to marry a pretty girl so i know i don't get bored of fucking her. although honestly i don't want any girl now.

but at least my feelings are genuine. see SOO many girls that marry because they feel the whole thing coming and its time to clamp down. good thing is those marriages used to last for 50 years of pain, nowadays these witches show their hand after just 1-2 years. facebook and online ego boosting has made them impatient of any true beta orbiter which makes the false feelings game harder for them.

[deleted] • 5 points • 15 April, 2018 11:09 AM

Good point. I never thought of that. Yeah, you're right, they ARE showing their hand more quickly these days. Works out better for the guys. Better they find out early that she's a settling whore, and leave before getting too invested in that "relationship".

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 April, 2018 11:34 AM

it's weird, its so instinctual on their part. to simply hate shitty genetics. i get it. but they are so fucking cruel as a result. i've rare to meet many women that i'd call compassionate in any way.

but yeah, most girls i know get 3 months into a relationship and are already on instagram whoring out ass pictures and sad quotes showing how much their pussy is yearning for a 12 person gangbang. they just can't help the need to find and breed with tons of high level genetic material. sad thing is all the hormones and self identity makes for some crazy ass bitches.

[deleted] • 10 points • 15 April, 2018 11:52 AM

Women are culturally socialized from a very young age to hide their true sexuality from the "non-chads". Female attraction has 2 faces - real sexual attraction (for chad), and the materialistic, fake "less visual" act (for her beta provider). Many women value commitment/security more than love, so they have to keep up the facade, otherwise the beta males wouldn't commit to them, AND they'd lose their beta orbiters. You're right, btw. This situation, where they're being emotionally pulled in opposite directions, is the main cause of their crazy/neurotic behavior. Their sex drive wants "Chad", but FEAR and INSECURITY about their future makes them prostitute themselves to "Poindexter".

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 April, 2018 12:06 PM

ya, i'm glad i'm not a woman. men just need to cum. even when we can't mate, we're dirty tree monkeys that will just jack off and fuck a pie. whatever. as long as we can fulfill that, we're fine. no real mental blocks as long as guy gets some good cums.

women are just a fucking pandora's box of issues. biggest issue is they know they are depreciating goods soon to be old and gross but they feel that need to mate with high level sperm until age 40-45, so their brains literally blow a fuse trying to justify what age they can push the CC days to. modern girls are a perversion of that as they've pushed it past age 30, where no really pretty woman exists. 26 is leftover in asia. nowadays these 40 year old cunts think they are 18 because they are good at makeup and wear marc jacobs.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 April, 2018 02:52 PM

where

My virginity question is still relevant until today.

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 02:55 PM

Maybe "glorified escort" would be a more fitting description. Expects to be compensated for her company even though no sexual activity takes place. The real problem is the double standard, where such compensation typically isn't required when she's actually attracted to the guy.

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 03:37 PM

Yep. No love for betas.

RubixCubeDonut • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 04:26 PM

they call us shallow

This is simply projection on their part. Everything bad that women say about men seems to be projection.

M26PershingTank • 7 points • 15 April, 2018 10:23 AM

I see it like this. If a man is dumb enough to get married these days, then he'll have to pay the price.

He doesn't see all the bullshit men go through with these bitches? That's his problem and it's a big one.

[deleted] • 6 points • 15 April, 2018 11:20 AM*

A lot of men have simply been culturally gaslighted into ignorance and need to be deprogrammed. The media, intelligent women and the feminazis go to great lengths to explain away the realities we know about, and many otherwise-intelligent men fall for it. Thanks to the dumb ones posting on social media and online dating sites, some are waking up, but it's still not enough for the more heavily conditioned/socialized guys. For them, it's gonna take a bad marriage and some hard butt fucking from an ex wife. As for the guys who go back to the plantation after that? They're hopeless.

[deleted] • 3 points • 15 April, 2018 02:42 PM

Women's reasons to marry:

fear to be alone ('till death).

pre-menopausal baby rabies.

social pressure (i.e. fear to be called 'old maid'/'spinster') financial reason.

FalsePositiveRethink • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 08:41 PM

Weirdest experience I've ever had was going out with a woman who wanted to see me every Saturday night but who otherwise showed no interest in me. After two months of getting nowhere I gave up and stopped contacting her, just giving non-committal answers to her messages. Two weeks of this and she came to my house and showed interest. I couldn't work it out - I was blue pillled then - and she was a nasty bitch of a woman anyway so I dumped her a few days later. My guess is she just wanted to marry a beta bucks. Glad I dodged that bullet.

He is in the army, he has a high paying job, and he even has hobby farms however and loves sailing, however he is so 1950s he married this post wall woman who got knocked up in her 20s by some other bloke. she seems vapid and thinks being a teacher is like a martyr.

no homo, but he is shredded and can get any hot woman in her 20s (he just needs to cover his bald spot).

but why would he select some used up single mom despite his achievements?

Hmm, interesting, I sometimes close my eyes when I want to concentrate in a discussion (and maybe while I say something), not because I want to lie.

Basically, it feels like shutting off external visual stimuli to spent less effort processing those and having more energy left to concentrate on the issue.

But lying might also be something that needs more concentration and effort, so maybe that's why she closed her eyes?

Just wondering, I don't know whether there are (believable!) studies into this.

FrostyGoingHisOwnWay • 13 points • 15 April, 2018 08:45 AM

I've refused to attend weddings of my friends as I don't want any part of them becoming legally and financially trapped like that. I think it's important that while we don't proselytize MGTOW to other people that we still stick to what we believe.

AngryDeer • 16 points • 15 April, 2018 09:41 AM

Sorry but I will go to my best friends wedding despite me not necessarily supporting it. You can still have your beliefs without being a weird ass and let your friend down. Sure, there's a good chance he's letting himself down but what difference does it make if you're there or not?

FrostyGoingHisOwnWay • 7 points • 15 April, 2018 10:30 AM

It's what's called a performative contradiction. You either support marriage and think it's a good idea or you do not. If you genuinely believe it's a problem then you wouldn't support your best friend getting married, if you care about your friends at all.

Many MGTOW are (in my opinion, correctly) cautious about pushing their beliefs onto others, going your own way is something you do individually as a man, pressuring other people into doing something is antithetical to MGTOW. However it doesn't mean you should show support for marriage because it's convenient and it upsets the feelings of some people, that's just cowardly.

[deleted] • 6 points • 15 April, 2018 09:50 AM

I wouldn't attend any wedding via family or friends. Saved travel costs and vacation time from work. Besides, I'm sure he has another best man lined up anyway.

AngryDeer • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 09:55 AM

Now I don't know about being best man.

[deleted] • 1 point • 15 April, 2018 02:48 PM

But, I suggest you to attend the reception - because of free meals & drinks.

[deleted] • 7 points • 15 April, 2018 11:47 AM

What I learn today from you guys: Attraction isn't a choice.

Stevesie11 • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 02:17 PM

Not at all.. do you think big fat ass dudes aren't STILL attracted to sexy bikini model-esque women? Do you think their big fat blue ribbon winning hog wives aren't STILL attracted to the Calvin Klein underwater models? Of course they are... problem is they had to settle for each other (for whatever reason).

In bride's mind: "I want this. This is what I have been working for. He and his assets will be mine. He's trapped now. I won. Just get through the vows and follow the plan."

[deleted] • 2 points • 15 April, 2018 08:31 PM

I don't really have any tells that I'm lying, for me it feels like a normal part of the conversation. I don't even think about it anymore, I guess I'm a "pathological liar" or whatever.

I can almost always tell when someone is lying:

1. They talk less confidently and physically pull away from you.
2. They break eye contact and look diagonally towards the floor, or if they're really bad straight down.
3. They talk like they're trying to justify themselves (this one is big), they're so afraid of being caught lying they try way harder than usual to get you to believe them.

Women are good liars, but they do this way more than most people. It's easy to tell if you know what to look for.

Yeah, you're reading into it too much. Lying and reciting vows bring about similar behaviors because they're both recalling a script, and not the events/feelings themselves.

70-80% of communication between humans is non verbal.

Eyes closed while speaking to someone signifies unease or anxiety.

Benefit of the doubt: she was nervous in front of people.

Truth: she's a two dollar whore already pregnant with Lahqueek or LaRon's bastard kid.
