

Social misconduct

November 9, 2016 | 0 upvotes | by Viking\_RnP

---

Introduction

I've been playing the field rather prolifically. If I have sex with a woman and don't see her as LTR material I ghost her. It was all fun and games for a while. Now I'm extremely hesitant to go out anywhere other than work and the gym.

Body

I'm going to explain what happened to me with the full understanding that I'm responsible for it. I took the cowards way out and paid the price.

I've ghosted quite a few women. After sex I lost interest and left it where it was. Just deleted her contact and ignored texts from random numbers. I always get her number in my phone first for that reason.

Anyway I was at a club I frequent most weekends. Suddenly in the middle of the dance floor one of the girls I ghosted b lines for me. She walks right into my face and starts screaming at me. Completely unbridled hysteria. Thankfully the music was very loud so words were muted to most of the people around me. Regardless, a lot of people were stopping dancing and watching what was unfolding.

She proceeded to proclaim me a rapist on top of many other insults. She said I abused her. She started getting physical. Hitting my chest and pushing at me. The bouncers came and grabbed me and her. We were being forcefully removed.

I know a lot of the people that frequently socialize in the city. Others were vouching for me saying I did nothing. She just attacked me. Seemingly at random. My bartender and two of the bouncers I'm close with stopped the guy who was escorting me out and took me to the back to figure out wtf was going on. They took her out for all I know now.

After talking it out with the bouncers it was quickly decided it's all good and I could get back to what I was doing. I ended up going up hiding out at the rooftop bar for about another half hour. Praying that woman was gone so I could get out of there in peace. I made my escape but now I've been home for almost a week. Afraid of another encounter like that.

Conclusions

All I can think is how thankful I am for knowing the people I knew. If nobody knew me and they heard her screaming rapist in my face it could have gone seriously bad. Her reactions was blown out of proportion but the message is clear. Men act, women react. I need to be more respectful, even if it's just to let her know she has some value that isn't really there for me.

TL;DR Ghosted women after sex. Got called a rapist in public. Hesitant about going out for a while.

---

Archived from theredarchive.com

---

Comments

---

[deleted] • 9 points • 9 November, 2016 06:37 PM

[permanently deleted]

Viking_RnP[S] • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 06:56 PM

I made it seem like I was much more interested than I was. I didn't promise anything but I didn't deny anything.

After sex I let my natural feelings override my logic. I could have done a lot more to show them they have value. I left them very cold and distant. Overall I'm acting very selfishly with these women.

None of them were crazy at face value. Which is about the extent I knew them.

I don't think it will go that far. I figured she was just releasing frustration. A little more freaked out now, but I'll find some legal advice.

[deleted] • 2 points • 9 November, 2016 07:12 PM

[permanently deleted]

Viking_RnP[S] • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 09:38 PM

I will certainly revisit the side bar and read through everything this time. Thanks for your time and effort.

aanarchist • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 08:40 PM

bruh that's all bullshit. you were there to put the dick in, she was there to get fucked. she's just mad that you nexted her first it bruised her ego.

Viking_RnP[S] • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 09:42 PM

Ultimately yeah. That is what happened. I could have avoided it though. I don't want my reputation scared because of a salty woman. I'd rather accept the reality that she will be content if I give her a little more.

aanarchist • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 10:17 PM

true that, enjoy giving her beta feels fenghsui • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 09:22 PM

Easy. Wait one week, text them and ask them how theyre doing. I didnt forget about you, babe, Ive just been hella busy.

Then delete them.

Viking_RnP[S] • 0 points • 9 November, 2016 09:42 PM

Gonna have to keep a calender for this one hahahaha.

feminists_are_dumb • 1 point • 14 November, 2016 03:33 PM

Basic decency would be to send a "I don't think we should see each other any more" text. You will be labeled "fuckboi" but that's a hell of a lot better than "rapist".

[deleted] • 5 points • 9 November, 2016 06:54 PM

The thing is, most of this could be easily avoided if you just slept with girls who are equally just looking for a fling.

Viking_RnP[S] • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 07:00 PM

Most were. I was using one tactic for all women. Rubbed at least one the wrong way.

[deleted] • 3 points • 9 November, 2016 07:07 PM

Why weren't you just upfront from the start, dropped hints like 'this is not a relationship, we are just having fun'? That way you would not have made it to this stage with that girl.

Viking_RnP[S] • 2 points • 9 November, 2016 09:39 PM

Was not considering the consequences and responsibilities of my actions.

[deleted] • 4 points • 10 November, 2016 11:58 PM

Ghosting is pretty fucking rude, m8.

Man up and tell her you're not interested instead of running away like a coward.

Llamas • 3 points • 9 November, 2016 07:01 PM

That's why GLO says to cook them breakfast in the morning. Make the vagina-person "feel" like they weren't used.

Also, instead of ghosting right away, try to get them to admit to having a good time with you via text. Then you have some sort of written proof of consent. After that, ghost all you want.

I personally installed a security camera (not facing anywhere I'd do any piping), just so I could pick up the sound of her consenting in case it needed to be brought to court. Note: I do not live in a two party consent state - if you do this, you need to make sure of the same.

asktrpthrow123 • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 07:36 PM

What is the sound of her consenting?

Llamas • 1 point • 9 November, 2016 08:05 PM*

Shit, tons of things... I usually just tell them "clothes, off" after making out and they'll say "okay".

"Fuck me harder"

"That was great!"

"You're fun"

I dunno, there's a shit ton of little things they can say before, during, and after that would prove that they wanted it.

edit: Of course, I don't get right to it when I walk in the door. I show her around, offer a drink, talk about my grandpa's paintings on my wall... If she's responding to me coherently, then the case is made that she felt comfortable and most importantly wasn't too drunk to consent. If she's fucking sloppy ass drunk and incoherent, she wouldn't be in my home to begin with.

clausgj • 3 points • 9 November, 2016 08:40 PM

Yeah girls fucking hate being ghosted after sex, know a few who I had a first date with and would start with this story, guy fucked me, said he really like me and so on, then gone! I could feel how upset she was telling me this story...

It is in my experience much easier to write a short break up text saying you didn't feel a connection or something. That way maybe if you meet them in town they won't go crazy... There are cases where ghosting makes sense, just not all lulalady • 2 points • 9 November, 2016 06:52 PM

Maybe don't ghost them and explicitly break things off? I don't think you need to ghost everyone, just people who you think will react worse if you tell them upfront.

Also, don't stick your dick in crazy, as they say, because then you'll get rapist accusations.

Viking_RnP[S] • 2 points • 9 November, 2016 06:59 PM

I need a new crazy filter. I'm going to stop ghosting altogether. Slow down and build up a bit of a relationship with the ones who want it. I'm definitely guilty of some leading on.

[deleted] • 2 points • 10 November, 2016 03:09 AM

Honestly, who the fuck cares what the irrational collection of orifices feels? You're the prize. They have not one thing but the obvious to contribute. They don't think or speak to anything substantive and are only of merit if they are really fucking subservient. If you LTR one of your plates you owe her nothing outside of the opportunity to serve you.

moopie45 • 2 points • 10 November, 2016 10:03 PM

Maybe don't be a weird asshole?

newName543456 • 2 points • 12 November, 2016 09:27 PM

If you want them gone, appear as stable, boring beta after you did your "alpha show" that got you laid. They will get confused, but repeated beta showing will make them cool down towards you and no such outbursts will happen, unless they're certified crazy.