

Opportunity to marry a virgin and "good girl"

June 27, 2020 | 16 upvotes | by Objective-Letter

I (25M) have an opportunity to marry a very competent female (24F). This is an arranged marriage between islamic families who are very cultured.

About me. Grew up in a dysfunctional single mother house where everyone was mad at each other. I grew up isolated and alone from my family members which caused me to be very anti-social. I don't have many friends. I've been listening to Jordan Peterson for a few years and got my act together. Quit cannabis addiction, graduated uni, making 90k year, working on being more social and connecting with the few friends that I have and working on my weaknesses in general.

About the female. Making 60k, very social and religious women. She wakes up at sunrise every morning to pray for the last three years. Claims to be a virgin (my family also suspects this of her). Well educated and travelled. Dresses modestly and is a very compassionate, polite, agreeable and Conscientiousness person (made her do understandmyself assessment). Has both parents and has very strong family connections and long friends. A very conservative person and understand the her primary duties is to take care of the household. She also plans on getting her masters

After meeting this women I've realized how underdeveloped I am in multiple areas in my life and she is clear more competent and experienced than me in life. She has a significantly stronger frame than I. However, ever since meeting her I've been wanting to improve myself. I've made peace with my brother and have been putting more work into my projects so I can become a more masculine man. I'm very underdeveloped in many areas of my life and my gut feeling is not to marry her and improve myself so i can become a more competent man (I did three tabs of LSD and had thoughts that I'm getting screwed over by marriage/ getting played). But I may be foolish in losing this opportunity of a "good" women due to my current status. I've never had a long term relationship with a women so this would be my first. I have insecurities of not knowing what it means to be a man due to the lack of male role models in my life and have this feeling deep down that I'm not good enough. She may have picked up on it but I'm trying to change my thoughts to say that I am good enough. I know the best I can do is be better than who I was yesterday. I would appreciate your advice on this

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

SBIII • 59 points • 27 June, 2020 02:13 PM

Which one of you is the virgin?

frozenpond • 22 points • 27 June, 2020 01:53 PM

I have insecurities of not knowing what it means to be a man due to the lack of male role models in my life and have this feeling deep down that I'm not good enough.

You will struggle until you fix this.

Start by doing the work on the sidebar.

Defiant-Method • 6 points • 27 June, 2020 08:39 PM

Sidebar is a good cure to this. I would suggest however that before OP reads TWOTSM he should read The Masculine in Relationship by CJ Youngblood. This book is what really put it all together for me, and is specifically written to address the issue "how can I lead an empowered, confident, competent woman?". Just realising that a highly competent woman still wants to feel lead in matters of romance and relationship is half the battle.

I've realised after reading a number of books on cognitive science and seeing the parallels with eastern philosophies like tantra: it's all about reducing her cognitive load, as a focus state of cognition is inherently masculine. When you reduce a woman's need to be in focus state, she can relax into diffuse state, which is inherently feminine. This polarisation of you being in focus state (holding frame) and her being in diffuse state affects the hormonal response of each of you and creates a hormonal polarisation, aka sexual tension.

This requires you to build up your capacity for more complex cognitive loads (OYS), and to build your stamina under load (Lift+meditate). You want to get to the point that the tasks (goals) in your cognitive workspace are intentional, benevolently selfish and able to be pursued with aggression and energy, and this is the core of what we call frame.

OP has work to do.

echo979 • 19 points • 27 June, 2020 02:25 PM

Why not do both? Pursue her but with small steps and, meanwhile, go all in toward personal growth.

Eventually, buy an engagement ring and set a wedding date in an year.

Don't burn bridges. Don't ruin her life. Don't lie to her or yourself.

Tell her where you are and what you want to do and become. It's in both your interests for you to become a strong and wise man. You might be surprised and get her support.

Go all in on the sidebar. Train your body religiously. Believe in yourself.

Middle_Aged_Child • 34 points • 27 June, 2020 01:30 PM

This isn't going to end well.

Objective-Letter[S] • 3 points • 27 June, 2020 06:38 PM

Could you explain further?

[deleted] • 9 points • 27 June, 2020 03:00 PM

Cyan is a “good” color. My family agree cyan is “good”. Objectively it seems to contain the right elements of the electromagnetic spectrum. I guess it could be aquamarine but I am sure it’s cyan. Is cyan my favorite color?

Rogue68486 • 8 points • 27 June, 2020 03:44 PM

If you haven't dated her or any other women, how do you expect to vet her?

If you haven't dated, how do you expect you can maintain a relationship?

Slow down. You're 25.

RStonePT • 6 points • 27 June, 2020 08:42 PM

<https://twitter.com/SaudiNews50/status/1275773903793795074?s=20>

https://twitter.com/f_ajlan/status/1275440064101662720?s=20

<https://twitter.com/vip24438734/status/1275494086934487045?s=20>

We aren't so different after all.

BobbyPeru • 3 points • 27 June, 2020 05:05 PM

Sounds like you have a snowflake there. Good luck.

After meeting this women I've realized how underdeveloped I am in multiple areas in my life and she is clear more competent and experienced than me in life.

This is often the case, at least on the surface with women vs men in their early to mid 20's. I believe it's a result of hypergamy- just my personal theory. Young women go out of their way to learn so that they can land a quality man.... Thousands of years of evolution.

Oh wait, maybe she's not a snowflake.

business---travel • 1 point • 16 July, 2020 04:28 AM

Sounds like you have a snowflake there. Good luck.

It's his own, personal unicorn.

mrpmonk • 2 points • 24 July, 2020 03:28 AM

So you mean she is the prize? Good for her. How about you hold in a bit, be the prize and the good catch, then attract other girls with/without family arrangements.

DrPsychGainz • 2 points • 27 June, 2020 05:50 PM

Her primary duties to take care of the household - plans on getting her masters. Islamic families who are very cultured - 3 tabs LSD. Square your circles more please.

You can't possibly lead your pseudo-unicorn into providing value because your mission appears to be esoteric garbage. Being better than you were yesterday is meaningless without metrics. And you likely haven't identified which metrics are worth using to judge your value.

Can you find a mentor in real life who is what and where you want to be? You probably need to get bitch-slapped by this person so you can internalize the side bar and stop using psychoactive substances without the guidance of a skilled physician and counselor.

athrowaway-9001[] • 4 points • 28 June, 2020 08:53 AM opportunity to marry

This is an oxymoron. Marriage is not an opportunity but rather a soul sucking shackle that will take half your income and then some if you have kids.

I've never had a long term relationship with a women so this would be my first.

Marriage sounds like a great idea to kick that off with.

PreEntertain • 1 point • 27 June, 2020 05:44 PM

Arranged unions is like letting someone order off the menu for you. I cant fucking stand that. I know of two people who endured what you might, and I almost fucked one of them.

You already know what you have to do. You don't need advice. You laid it out for us. Now read your comment back to yourself and go fucking get you, bro!

SteveSan82 • 1 point • 28 June, 2020 01:55 AM

I have so many stories I could tell you about muslimahs having lived most of my life in a blue state refugee loving shithole. Muslimahs don't really believe in it. Same goes with other religions. Women only use religion. I use to fuck a jilbabi salafi woman who was married with 1 kid during mu blue pilld days.

While her husband was at work she'd dump her kid with her mom and we'd fuck. She even joked that if I got her pregnant her husband wouldnt suspect a thing since some of her family looked White since shes a Berber.

She would ghost me on every ramadan but come back after eid.

This is just one of many. Read The Rational Male. You are too young for marriage and certainly not mature enough for it.

iwillruletheworldkjh • 0 points • 27 June, 2020 08:03 PM

Are you a virgin? Be aware that people change a lot after they have sex, marrying her before having sex with her is a risky thing

tropicsGold • -10 points • 27 June, 2020 02:57 PM

Sounds like wife material, and that is rare, so go for it if you think she is right for you! Shut that insecurity shit down. You sound like a great guy, just keep working hard every day. Going in the right direction is more important than where you are today. Keep it up!

HornsOfApathy[M] • 6 points • 27 June, 2020 05:03 PM

Nope. Not here.

Praexology • 5 points • 27 June, 2020 05:57 PM

Sometimes giving bad advice is funny though.

SBIII • 2 points • 27 June, 2020 11:03 PM

I liked that post when I thought he was being sarcastic.

Praexology • 2 points • 27 June, 2020 11:45 PM

Oh hes being serious? Big oof on that coach.

SBIH • 2 points • 27 June, 2020 11:57 PM

I dunno - it's hard to tell. He should've added a smiley face instead of an exclamation mark.
Sometime emojis are much more indicative of thought than the written word.

Praexology • 2 points • 28 June, 2020 12:08 AM

SBIH • 1 point • 28 June, 2020 12:10 AM

Tyred_Biggums • 1 point • 30 June, 2020 11:10 PM

The universal emoji. Can't see what goes on behind the mask.