

Feminism in a nutshell.

May 28, 2020 | 921 upvotes | by princess\_stepford

---

---

Archived from theredarchive.com

---

Comments

---

supermarioplush220 • 77 points • 28 May, 2020 04:13 PM

So true.

notajoe • 67 points • 28 May, 2020 06:40 PM

Yup. Like the classic posting of Feminist stuff on instagram stories about not objectifying women then the next post is a bikini photo with the peach emoji caption pewpewhitguy • 25 points • 28 May, 2020 07:05 PM

Anything is possible when you lie.

Gameperson700 • 21 points • 28 May, 2020 08:44 PM

Honestly I'm on both sides when it comes to this. People should be allowed to dress how they want, but everyone should know that how you dress might cause a reaction from some people. Humans look at each other, especially when a man or a woman sees something that they like. It could be a guy with some nice muscles or a girl that just has a nice figure. Of course men are more visually stimulated though it's not impossible for women to find something visually attractive. I've learned from taking a psychology class that humans are inherently visual creatures. I think it's fine to look at something you like because no matter what, everyone does it whether it's to a human or something like a painting. The problem comes when you start doing stuff that may be considered rude or creepy like you stare, touch or follow someone. As long as you don't do that, just having a glance is fine.

Oh and I absolutely hate people who claim that the most minimal things are rape. That trivializes stuff that people with real sexual assault stories went through.

C00ki3_Krom • 42 points • 28 May, 2020 04:06 PM

Even though I am against feminism and metoo, I dont think this comic explains anyhting or represents something real

qemist • 33 points • 28 May, 2020 06:54 PM

Cartoon is weak but in the west there's this odd thing that women wear clothing designed to sexually provoke but it is taboo to acknowledge the fact. e.g. yoga pants, with ruching to pull the seam as high into the crack as possible, and piping around the crotch to make that gap. Because it's comfortable.

C00ki3_Krom • 16 points • 28 May, 2020 08:14 PM

And men aren't animals, if they look it's their fault, and if a man wears something sexually provoking then if women look it's their fault as well

qemist • -23 points • 28 May, 2020 08:18 PM

Sorry, men (and women) are animals. Women aren't susceptible to that sort of provocation, which is why men don't wear yoga pants.

C00ki3_Krom • 14 points • 28 May, 2020 09:10 PM

Actually they are and actually they do

NibblyPig • 4 points • 28 May, 2020 11:52 PM*

It represents the problem of the stage that comes after projecting yourself in a sexual manner and being unhappy about people receiving that projection and reacting to it. Once

You can listen to Camille Paglia talk about it, this is where she talks about clothing specifically but the whole thing is worth listening to, although she does say the word 'okay' a lot.

A TLDR is that you need to accept the world is full of nutjobs and primitive beasts, dress and act appropriate to that, don't whine and assume the state, your parents, your college, etc are your guardians that can let you dress exactly as you choose without any kind of reaction that you consider negative, as it is pure privilege and arrogance to assume the world should cater to you in that way.

The rest of her video is fantastic too, explaining what feminism used to be (casting off the shackles of control, kicking your parents and college and schools out of your sex life, getting freedom to do whatever you want while accepting that it comes with risk (the same risks that men face)) and what it is now, bringing those institutions back into your sex life in order to shield you from the reality of the world.

Once you force the world to cater to your privileged arrogance and shelter you from the harsh realities of the world, people are forced to walk on eggshells. Then suddenly having a mixture of wanted and unwanted attention goes to having no attention, which it turn exposes that making these demands of the state does not give you what you want, and just makes everyone else paranoid and miserable along the way. Hence this gem of an article: Men Rarely Catcall Me Any More. I Hate That Our Culture Makes Me Miss It. .

This comic goes one step further in that the woman not only seeks attention that has been filtered to the attention she deems that she wants, but she also seeks attention through being a victim of society.

[deleted] 28 May, 2020 04:41 PM

[deleted]

real_josem30 • 8 points • 28 May, 2020 06:29 PM

Wow like a LGBTQIMAGAMFWTMITTLY comment. Lol

Red-vibe • 17 points • 28 May, 2020 04:19 PM

Has this actually happened to any one? I'm pro male rights but this seems unrealistic.

Deathbysugar2020 • 38 points • 28 May, 2020 05:27 PM

This woman once fell back on me when the bus braked suddenly, and she shot me a dirty look. Ma'am, if you lost your balance did you expect me to airbend you back up?

Obviously the cartoon is made humorously but it talks about a real problem we men face.

silvershadow014 • 2 points • 19 June, 2020 04:49 PM

or she just gave you a dirty look... because she was annoyed? like i'm not saying she was in the right but it's not like she was making it a sexual issue LOL

Deathbysugar2020 • 3 points • 19 June, 2020 04:56 PM*

Annoyed at me for what? For basically stopping her from falling down?

And I'm pretty sure she thought of it sexually. I live in India, I know enough to understand when someone looks at me like I'm a pervert...

silvershadow014 • 1 point • 19 June, 2020 05:03 PM

some people act annoyed to avoid embarrassment, im not saying it's logical. and i'm sure you could tell she thought you were sexually harassing her from a dirty look lmao

Deathbysugar2020 • 1 point • 19 June, 2020 05:10 PM

What is there to be embarrassed about for losing your balance in a bus?

And I actually could, it's easy. I get it so much, as do so many men. The angry-disgusted-uncomfortable look. It wasn't an annoyed look, like you said for some reason.

This didn't happen just once btw, it happens a lot in public, when someone thinks I'm looking at their butt or trying to get close to them or touching them.

Anyway, why would I bother lying to you?

silvershadow014 • 1 point • 19 June, 2020 11:40 PM

when did I call you a liar? it's completely possible you misinterpreted what she was feeling, just like how you think she's misinterpreting what you did.

GTFonMF • 4 points • 29 May, 2020 02:34 AM

A woman feeling angry and jilted for a man not responding to her display of sexuality?

Yes. It happens quite often.

MetaCognitio • 1 point • 31 May, 2020 08:17 AM

It is an exaggeration but when people attention seek then complain they get attention (ie: someone looking) then that is what it is talking about. Obviously none of this gives you the right to touch or harass someone.

Username-Redacted-69 • 1 point • 29 May, 2020 03:33 PM

Karen

saal_sol • 1 point • 14 June, 2020 09:53 PM

That last one fucking killed me. ☐☐☐

Advanced_Male • 1 point • 16 June, 2020 02:42 AM women wear good looking clothes to impress other women shredder_999 • 1 point • 29 May, 2020 05:54 AM

So accurate

pontiflexrex • -23 points • 28 May, 2020 05:53 PM

How small are your nuts?

Mr_Volkstaat • 18 points • 28 May, 2020 07:40 PM

I'd ask you the same thing, but it's obvious you don't even have any.

pontiflexrex • -11 points • 28 May, 2020 09:51 PM

I'm sure that in your mind, this sounded better.

Mr_Volkstaat • 17 points • 28 May, 2020 09:54 PM

Quite a few people would disagree, it seems.

pontiflexrex • -11 points • 28 May, 2020 09:57 PM

A few is right.

the-mega-sad • 14 points • 28 May, 2020 10:24 PM

cough cough most of society disagrees with you cough cough

pontiflexrex • -1 points • 28 May, 2020 10:26 PM

Dudes, we were talking about small nuts, not thin skin. Why are you getting caught up in this game? Be secure in your beliefs for once!

the-mega-sad • 14 points • 28 May, 2020 10:27 PM

cough cough your overconfidence is your downfall cough cough

itsalexcl • 12 points • 29 May, 2020 02:05 AM

Still bigger than your brain it seems.

SpammyBoiDotCom • 2 points • 30 May, 2020 07:50 PM

r/rareinsults

pontiflexrex • -2 points • 29 May, 2020 06:04 AM

I don't expect much from antis, and then someone starts talking about brain size and my day is made.

itsalexcl • 4 points • 29 May, 2020 10:25 AM

Nothing like making a joke on someone's body and then proceeding to call the counter joke add disrespectful. Go to Starbucks and drink the usual, you know the Java Hypocrite.

Noesk • 6 points • 28 May, 2020 06:52 PM

1