

May 25, 2020 | 57 upvotes | by simoska

third time lucky

@roundxthree

Ayesha Curry patronised other women for showing skin to men that aren't their partner, then cried about not getting attention from men who aren't her husband, and then went on a mad weight loss journey so she could post the same pics she acted like she was above

18:42 · 24 May 20 · Twitter for iPhone

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

MingSushi • 3 points • 26 May, 2020 12:34 AM

She went on tv cried about how other men don't look at her and call her sexy, even though she's married and many women cheered her on and said stuff like "She just wants attention, it's natural"

And now she posts those pics on social media, looking good and those same women are dissing her and calling her names.

Personally it was weird the second she went on tv and said that stuff

qemist • 1 point • 25 May, 2020 10:03 PM

Feminism?