Ya never got this one, apparently it's "toxic masculinity" yet my male friends are the ones I can count on, the women I know would shame me for showing weakness, maybe I just know shitty women and good men but either way it proves that this problem isn't "toxic masculinity" it's just society doesn't give a fuck about men

Philletto • 6 points • 28 April, 2020 09:58 PM

There's shitty men out there too, especially if it gets them the pussy

Tavarshio • 3 points • 29 April, 2020 03:27 AM

True. Feminists tend to be narcissistic women who are actively selecting for extremely strong men. Women generally dislike weakness but feminists REEEEEALLY HATE IT.

Nailed it!

Some of them (my ex included) use your suffering to say "this is why men also need feminism". They have no compassion for you, and your suffering is not only enjoyed, but exploited as a means to rope men in need of help into self-hating misandry.

I never get "apes together strong". Its usually even worse ridicule and suicide jokes from men on the internet.
