While some of them are true, a lot of things on the list are downright false

Like that part, where she doesn't say the real reason of wage gap

thereslcjg2000 • 4 points • 17 April, 2020 02:04 AM

Nor does she mention how many of the women are using their husbands' higher incomes to their advantage, to the point that women have greater spending power than men.

In 1972 26% of men and women polled said they would not vote for a woman president. In 2007, 12% of people polled said they were less likely to vote for a woman president.

So in other word a larger percentage would vote for a woman president. Why is it showing the minority?

Call her out on it.

TomToms8[S] • 2 points • 16 April, 2020 05:29 PM

I have to answer questions about it using it as evidence like what the heck

QS26 • 4 points • 16 April, 2020 06:42 PM

I'd talk to her about it after class or something. Teachers shouldn't have bias like that in a class room.

TomToms8[S] • 4 points • 16 April, 2020 06:56 PM

It's with online school so I can't really but thanks for the idea either way. Tho I don't think she sees it as bias and she litterally refers to them as facts this is upsetting.

Thanks anyway tho

Most feminists think their false statistics are facts.

EE_Master • 2 points • 16 April, 2020 08:48 PM

Dumbass is lying lmao

itsalexcl • 2 points • 17 April, 2020 02:44 AM

I don't know what feminists are smoking but Jesus aren't they high enough to not think correctly.

VestigialHead • 2 points • 17 April, 2020 04:54 AM

I do not understand why we would care about any of that?

If women want to increase the numbers then it is up to them to work at it. We are not going to open up positions to women if they are not qualified.

If women want to earn the same money as men then they need to work the same hours as men.

None of this is relevant or deserves any more than a cursory glance.

the_new_longneck • 2 points • 17 April, 2020 05:19 AM

My teacher does that too and gets mad if I try to say anything other than what I want her to hear. It's Bullshit.

TomToms8[S] • 2 points • 17 April, 2020 12:45 PM

For one of the answers I found a way to passive aggressively tell her that that it was stupid so maybe she won't do it again. It's so annoying tho

JasonF938 • 2 points • 17 April, 2020 08:35 AM

"Women earn 79c for every dollar a man earns"

Men also die at work at 20 times the rate women do, but nobody seems to care about that particular gender discrepancy. I wonder why.

the-mega-sad • 2 points • 21 April, 2020 02:09 AM

It also proves that feminist arguments are pointless. They are fighting for something they already have.

TheSeekerPorpentina • -12 points • 16 April, 2020 04:39 PM

It's not propaganda, it's facts

TomToms8[S] • 4 points • 16 April, 2020 06:13 PM

The wage gap you think is a fact?

TheSeekerPorpentina • -7 points • 16 April, 2020 06:24 PM

Yes.

I know this. But it doesn't need to mention this. It's a fact, and of course there are these factors that make it so.

the-mega-sad • 1 point • 21 April, 2020 02:10 AM

Wow, it smells like wrong in this comment section. Or is that feminism?

Am I the only one who smells that?

Keep yourself safe and informed

This sub gets triggered by facts and pretend they don't have their own agenda and bias. lol

TomToms8[S] • 1 point • 17 April, 2020 12:59 PM

We don't get angry at facts we get angry at false things that are presented as facts.

About having an agenda well of course we have our own agenda it's a political subreddit and everyone has some form of bias lol
