Western feminists don't give a flying shit about real female oppression (see what I did there?). These keyboard feminists that haven't done shit to help real women in need of liberation are the reason why I have ZERO respect and ZERO tolerance for feminism in any capacity.

Western feminists usually believe in empowering women to advocate for themselves in their own cultures, and to amplify the voices of those women. Heading en masse to speak for them or presume their needs for change could turn into a white savior complex thing.

Some do, but a lot seem to think that sexualized video game and comic book women are the root of all evil.

Feminism works much better in practice than it actually does right now.
