It is time to exorcise the demon that is the Patriarchy.

Self-reliance = patriarchy joejoseph7 • 18 points • 21 January, 2020 04:37 AM

Even if they did, they'd probably teach their 3yr old son too. Because that what builds a strong character. Doing chores.

RegumRegis • 9 points • 21 January, 2020 07:57 AM

And you know, everyone should know how to do basic tasks

Odz2427 • 7 points • 21 January, 2020 07:44 AM

Yeah, teaching a 3 year old about civil rights and standing up for herself and gender is too complicated for a child that age to understand.

Chores are not.

Gretshus • 6 points • 21 January, 2020 09:31 AM let's be more realistic, it takes far less brain power to understand how to wash dishes and clean than to understand what the meaning of a rights are or how to "stand up for [your]self. Might explain why feminists are both slobs AND stupid.

CommitSudokuPerverts • 2 points • 21 January, 2020 02:59 PM

let's be more realistic, understanding that takes far more brain power than feminists have nnfl • 10 points • 21 January, 2020 04:29 AM

What in the world is that sub you just linked from?

Fractaroth • 9 points • 21 January, 2020 08:59 AM

Looks like a bunch of retards fighting their head-ghosts.

CommitSudokuPerverts • 2 points • 21 January, 2020 02:58 PM

A bunch of fat retards.

Gordop • 4 points • 21 January, 2020 12:23 PM

Feminists outraged over teaching girls about responsibility? I pooped myself with shock!

CommitSudokuPerverts • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 02:57 PM

They should. Everyone should be taught to take care of themselves. Except females, who should be exempt from personal responsibilities.

I've noticed they've begun calling themselves witches at some point lol I'll mind-dig a bit into it: implying that smh inquisition and the whole idea of dungeons, prisons, executions and torture wasn't invented mostly for men. Also another weird combination of traditional expectation of a lighter punishment and modern "equality" - implying that it's ok to be a deranged "witch" for a woman.

OliDaKilla[S] • 1 point • 23 January, 2020 07:57 PM

I think it's meant like "bitches" but they wanted to keep it pg

cowyeti • -6 points • 21 January, 2020 04:08 AM

□ Are you serious??? Do you not know what baby dolls and play kitchens are?

Philletto • 6 points • 21 January, 2020 04:53 AM

There is nothing wrong with a boy preferring baby dolls and play kitchens before starting puberty blockers.

cowyeti • -4 points • 21 January, 2020 05:08 AM

Who said there's anything wrong with that?

I_Fucking_Love_Traps • 5 points • 21 January, 2020 07:41 AM yea but id lay off the blockers personally i dont know enough about it and it seems really sketchy from a health stand point

cowyeti • 0 points • 21 January, 2020 01:48 PM

What the fuck are you talking about? I was talking about how we start pushing gender roles on kids early, and you just started talking about puberty and shit comment you replied to mentioned both gender roles and puberty blockers whilst your reply to that comment didnt specify which issue you had no qualms with so its reasonable to assume you were ok with both issues.

I_Fucking_Love_Traps • 1 point • 22 January, 2020 04:01 PM

then i just suggested that puberty blockers are a no from me

Gordop • 2 points • 21 January, 2020 12:25 PM

Toys.

Wait, are you a clean slater? I think you might be a clean slater.

OliDaKilla[S] • 2 points • 21 January, 2020 01:42 PM

Saying that is sexist because you are talking like only girls play with those

cowyeti • -2 points • 21 January, 2020 01:58 PM

Why are you pretending to be retarded? You know that all these toys like baby dolls and cooking toys are marketed towards girls right? They use pretty pink packaging and put girls on the cover.

OliDaKilla[S] • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 03:13 PM

They are, but they are still toys. Any kid will play with them. You are the retard here.

cowyeti • -1 points • 21 January, 2020 03:33 PM

So these toy companies are spending hundred of millions of dollars marketing these toys as girls toys, and you're saying it has no effect because kids play with toys regardless of who it's pushed towards? No offence but I'm gonna believe that hasbro knows what they're doing.

OliDaKilla[S] • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 04:22 PM

Does not change the fact that they are toys and whoever it's marketed towards will have fun with them.

cowyeti • 0 points • 21 January, 2020 05:38 PM

That's not even what we're arguing about. You claimed in your title that we don't teach girls to wash dishes and I said that we market toys associated with stay at home mom stuff to girls, which is basically teaching them the stereotypical female gender role. I have no idea why you're talking about boys being able to play with girls toys. Maybe your antifem brain is so big you can't stay on topic.

OliDaKilla[S] • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 05:59 PM

You brought this off-topic by talking about those toys

cowyeti • 0 points • 21 January, 2020 07:01 PM

Well no, you brought yourself off topic by talking about boys liking girls toys.

Gordop • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 10:53 PM

So girls don't naturally gravitate towards those kind of toys? Marketing is about making a profit not social engineering. It is much more profitable to market something toward things that people are incline to actually do as opposed to something you have to convince them to change for.

Gender roles are based on biology. Despite what you may have been told we are not born with a clean slate. Boys and girls will gravitate towards different things from birth. Just within the first few days of birth boys will show more interest in objects and girls will show more nterest in faces/people. If you want a source for that I'll have to track it down for you.

cowyeti • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 11:27 PM

Yeah I'd love a source

Here is an article explaining part of what I'm talking about. I'll have to try and dig up a better source later, sorry.
