

The comment section is toxic as hell

January 17, 2020 | 38 upvotes | by Hegwik

Funke Fatai ❤️ #Bbnaija
@phunky__

I find it very abusive to put pressure on men to provide us with a life we cannot provide for ourselves as women. As much as women are not rehabilitation centres for badly raised men, Men are not poverty eradication plans for lazy women.

5:17 PM · 13/01/2020 · Twitter for iPhone

Posted in r/BlackPeopleTwitter

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

Egalitarianwhistle • 11 points • 17 January, 2020 04:19 AM

Feminism has reached peak toxicity.

JayTheFordMan • 10 points • 17 January, 2020 07:38 AM

I made the mistake of reading the comments, so much retard in there :/

jackthepizzaman • 2 points • 17 January, 2020 01:24 PM

What do some say?

Poseidonram1944 • 6 points • 17 January, 2020 07:44 AM

I thought i was retarded, then I read the comments

pupsimbauch • 3 points • 17 January, 2020 09:04 AM

Actually its hilarious af how people can become this bitter...that supreddit is s real toxic sewer. Sometimes i go there to amuse myself, but no sense in arguing or taking them seroiusly.

CommitSudokuPerverts • 1 point • 17 January, 2020 12:48 PM

How isn't that entire sub and all the users banned for the harassment and bullying policy?

CommitSudokuPerverts • 1 point • 17 January, 2020 01:27 PM

Most women aren't stay at home wives though, they still work.

Not according to the DoL.

Punktard69 • 1 point • 21 January, 2020 11:47 AM

There's literally one comment about how men are the ones in the wrong because they can't get pregnant.

Apparently biology is dead