This is what a scientist looks like.
Show the children.
This is what a scientist looks like.

Tell me when r/feminism allows any discourse you cunt.

O o maybe catering to feamle sensitivites is the reason organizations like the boy scouts go to shit. So no, fuck feminists and fuck their feelings

[deleted] • 2 points • 22 October, 2019 04:49 PM

I can't tell if this is ironic or not

Undead_Chronic • 13 points • 22 October, 2019 05:04 PM

Not ironic. Fuck feminists. Fuck muh civil discusssion. They can have their discussion on their man hating forums without me.

Mick_Donalds • 16 points • 22 October, 2019 05:06 PM

Agreed. Never support feminism. Never apologize for not supporting feminism, either.

[deleted] • 1 point • 22 October, 2019 05:08 PM

Ok, the whole comment just have a kind of ironic vibe(the way you worded things)

Undead_Chronic • 2 points • 22 October, 2019 05:16 PM

Yeah i dont try to hard at sentence structure on reddit ;(

[deleted] • 1 point • 22 October, 2019 05:17 PM

To bad :(

Undead_Chronic • 1 point • 22 October, 2019 05:18 PM

We both should have used 'too' lol

[deleted] • 1 point • 22 October, 2019 05:19 PM

Lol ik

Why does every photo of science seem to include a pipette?

TheGhoulisshSword • 5 points • 22 October, 2019 10:07 PM

Because why would you show a vapor distillation or HPLC machine when you can pipette. Clearly the most interesting of those three. The small squeeze tube.

[deleted] • 6 points • 23 October, 2019 01:05 AM

Ew. Not professional-looking at all!

Giganthic • 6 points • 23 October, 2019 02:32 AM

This picture looks like it was taken before she dripped something in the wrong place, laughed about it, then the whole place blew up on her

All of politics is a bunch of ecochambers with some rare meetings and debates between the opposition happening sometimes. People, who are claiming, that they've reached some sort of complete consensus/equality, have either met a submissive person (when speaking of personal relationships) or are the one-party systems (when speaking of the global politics) - and everybody knows what that entails.

Truths are objective (though may be incomplete/manipulated), common sense is a relative interpretation of the truths.
