

I've never stooped down this low to not get banned... I'm trying to be passive-aggressive here, I'll probably get banned for it...

Oh, but women should be able to play in men's sports? (Up for discussion, no offense to anyone.) That's what I seem to be getting from all of these subreddits, it seems you feminists (because some men are feminists) wish for female equality, which means men and women are equal, yet you do not want trans mtf to play with women, but you guys seem like you don't like how women cannot play with men. I'm just confused and would like some explanation. Have a nice day.

They keep spouting the line that men and women are equal, we are not, I'm not even talking about equality in society, I'm talking about physical and mental differences. The world we know was built by men, women had very little to do with it other than supplying the men with their rewards. Do work, come home, get sex.

If they really think men and women are the same, get rid of "female sports", merge their teams with the mens and see how they get along.

It'd be funny as fuck for all the honks out there.

I mean the entire progressive ideology is built on the zealous denial of factual reality. Racial differences, gender differences, the causes and negative realities surrounding the LGBT community. The realities of socialism. Their ENTIRE viewpoint is about ignoring factual reality in favor of more emotionally satisfying lies.

No women can explain your question, they have no argument, female sports were created so that women could play competitively and was always a mark for freedom and equality back when they were created and most women would be very happy to play in female teams, nowadays they can't even understand simple logic, more people watching = more money

This is likely why men 100 years ago opposed women's rights: they knew they'd never be satisfied anyway and would whine even more.

It came true.

Women shouldn't be allowed to play in men's sports

Women shouldn't be allowed to work in men's civilization, build you own, strong independent women.

Then why men and women are suppose to be in the same language exam? Well, women is not better at language, they just twisted how it is considered good. The compacter the better>>>>the longer the better. They are the latter. So they twisted the rules. If you think about maths anotation, you will know what i mean.
