It is unfair that they remain unseen in the lowest part of society. We need to conscript women to work in sewers, mine, oil platform, garbage collection, deep sea fishing. We need to empower women to know the joy of a hard day of work

Ooh but no, no, no, only the high paying, CEO jobs are what they consider equality.

I've never heard of an equality initiative to work on an oil rig, construction, or any manual labor.

Damn. I wish I were able to say that in a hostile social situation, but no, my brain says "You know what'd be funny? If this dude stumbled and stuttered like an idiot and embarrassed himself."
