Please stop the violence against men we are dying in real life too.

Men don't count. They are 50% of the population and thus expendable.

It is closer to 48.1% because the mortality rate among men is extremely high. While there are more male births (51.2%) than female births. These figures also show the extent to which men are treated dispensably. These statistics are even worse if we take into account only the West, as these are the countries with the longest life expectancy and therefore the greatest disparity between men and women.

This makes a difference of 3.1% or 241 million fewer men than normal in the world. The cause is feminism?

Misandry, choosing more hazardous jobs, more likely to shot to death by everyone, heightened suicide rates due to lacking mental health care, expected to suck it up for every other type of health under the sun, being treated like garbage by some, etc. There are likely more reasons I can't think of right now.

Even feminists are realizing this game is shit. Even though not in the way we expected.

Sorry why is it shit? Like, i played the first one, and i watched the trailers of the second one, it doesn't seem so bad.

I spent 60 bucks so if I want to enjoy it because I spent money then massage my taint with a flamethrower if you want. Making the best of a situation is what men do. Either you kill me or I get to think what I want

The only people killing trans people are themselves. The suicide rate stays the same whether they've had a genital mutilation or not?
