

She is the queen of this subreddit she spits some mad facts about feminism

October 10, 2019 | 146 upvotes | by XFATEX_Falk

Follow

Addilay
@Addilay21

I love being a wife and mom, i think it's important to look good for your man and to work out. I'm very traditional and thats why a lot of woman hate me :p

 Joined July 2016

46 Following 30 Followers

Tweets Tweets & replies Media Likes

 Pinned Tweet

Addilay @Addilay21 · 26 Jul 16
The only reason I have my head on straight, is cause I have a man who puts me in my place.
#antifemenist #menaregood
#weneedmen

 6  3  8

Addilav @Addilav21 · 08 Dec 16

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

vicsj • 24 points • 10 October, 2019 06:38 PM

To be fair, you can still be anti feminist and not be a 1950's housewife. I still believe in equality, I just recognize that feminism is a very toxic and anti equality movement.

This post would be more suitable for r/redpillwomen

kevinnelson89991 • 10 points • 10 October, 2019 07:37 PM

Also 'i have a man who puts me in my place' sounds like either an ancient belief or a kink.

LickWits • 3 points • 10 October, 2019 08:31 PM

Maybe even both

TheLichKing-Zeyd • 2 points • 10 October, 2019 10:27 PM

Definitely a wierd kink

LickWits • 41 points • 10 October, 2019 02:20 PM

It is bold to declare her "the queen of this subreddit". Since I do not think everyone here agrees with her.

"A man who puts me in my place" just sounds very wrong in my opinion.

But to each their own I guess.

EDIT: Side note, she misspelled "Feminist" titillatesturtles • 10 points • 10 October, 2019 07:38 PM

We would all be marching in the streets alongside the feminists in the beginning of last century, for their right to vote, to own property, and to enjoy universal freedoms.

Most of us (I hope) would also support the feminists that fought for sexual freedom, the right to be treated fairly at work and an equal legal standing with men in the 50s/60s.

It's the lunatic feminist movement of today, with their completely baseless claims and their imaginary oppression that's the problem.

vicsj • 5 points • 10 October, 2019 07:46 PM

Totally agree. Feminism served its purpose last century, this century it has only put men at a disadvantage and created a matriarchy. The strive for equality continues...

XFATEX_Falk[S] • 8 points • 10 October, 2019 03:02 PM

Yea I'm struggle with english

meeselbon573 • 2 points • 10 October, 2019 08:09 PM

Yeah, I don't want no queen.

xeroxe • 1 point • 11 October, 2019 11:47 AM

It sounds wrong because we have been exposed for too long to the idealist idea of equality and trained to feel aversion toward hierarchical structures. But nature doesn't care about all that, women want to be dominated, want to be manhandled, want to be under an authoritative figure who is more smart than them, more powerful than them, more rich than them and ultimately to submit themselves to a superior man.

Today women are depressed because they are longing for this and repressing their natural needs. I completely trust her that she's happy under this authoritative framework, she managed to embrace and enjoy her feminine nature despite massive societal pressure against hierarchy. That to my eyes is a strong woman. And it's no wonder other women hate her — she reminds them of their true nature they are trying so hard to sweep under the carpet. Feminism is anti-woman.

[deleted] 10 October, 2019 02:56 PM

[removed]

LickWits • 16 points • 10 October, 2019 03:10 PM

I get where you're coming from. But I don't think we should treat anyone different simply because they are a woman.

Women can be stupid, I agree. But so can men. No one is perfect. And recent waves of feminism haven't exactly helped with that. Instead of promoting the equal treatment between both genders, it has been escalating and doing the exact opposite.

ohvicerino • -5 points • 10 October, 2019 03:42 PM

I'm not saying that they should be treated differently because they are women, that would be retarded, Im saying that they should be treated based on they're actions

kevinnelson89991 • 2 points • 10 October, 2019 07:41 PM

You're definitely saying they should be treated differently due to gender. You're grouping together half of the world's population and making generalisations. You're saying that they need to be kept in check (based on nothing but gender) and to top it all off, your "I'm not sexist" means nothing. You're claiming we need to treat people radically differently, to the point where they're controlled, on grounds of gender and that's is definitely sexist.

vviviann • 13 points • 10 October, 2019 03:18 PM

“Women are just stupid” “women are not made to be loyal” “a women needs to be intimidated” “if you let women loose they’ll do retarded things” Why do I have a feeling if a woman said those things about men you’d start screaming feminazi. You are sexist, and this is not the reality. You’re taking anti-feminism a tad too far

SkilletRocksRise • 12 points • 10 October, 2019 03:23 PM

Yup....agreed

vviviann • 10 points • 10 October, 2019 03:45 PM

Thanks mate. Sometimes people like that make this sub feel more anti-woman than anti-feminist

LickWits • 6 points • 10 October, 2019 04:43 PM

Sadly that is the case quite often here. People that join this sub range from "Yeah, this feminism movement is not really doing us any good, we should try to change some things" all the way to "DEATH TO THE VAG HUMANS".

You could say this sub is a bit divided in that aspect.

ohvicerino • -3 points • 10 October, 2019 05:26 PM

See? Now you are just a moron. You overexaggerate something that I said just to make me look bad. You are no different than the journalists that talk shit about something just because they don't like it

LickWits • 7 points • 10 October, 2019 05:31 PM

I overexaggerated the situation in the subreddit for humoristic purposes, not you in specific. Acting like everything is a personal attack is doing the exact same as the feminist extremists.

xeroxe • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 04:52 PM

But where did feminism come from? It did not pass through a membrane from another reality. Feminism is a product of female nature over-dominating the society.

vviviann • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 05:16 PM

No. True feminism is a product of men dominating the society and unfairly treating women

xeroxe • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 05:58 PM

But this sub is not about anti-true-feminism, this sub is about anti-feminism. Do not redefine my question for your purposes.

vviviann • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 06:02 PM

It still answers your question. Feminism regressed but it started because of the dominance of men

xeroxe • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 06:31 PM

Far from it. You just replaced the redefinition from true feminism to the origin of feminism. My question had nothing to do with the origin/true/whatever feminism you're dishonestly insisting to inject into this discussion only because it serves your argument better.

Where is the feminism this sub is against for coming from?

ohvicerino • -4 points • 10 October, 2019 03:53 PM

I made those statements based on real life events, just look around you my friend and you will see that I am not your enemy. Men are loyal and have been throughout human history. A woman cannot say what I said because it is simply not true. Or can they? We gave them rights and now they file fake sexual assault cases for money or revenge. It is in their nature to work only for their interest and sometimes for their children (sometimes, not always).

vviviann • 4 points • 10 October, 2019 03:57 PM

I am incredibly loyal to whoever I need to be loyal to. "We gave them rights" why are you saying that like it's anything to be proud of? Congrats for treating half of the population like they're human. There are bad women out there who lie about rape, but men also commit more crimes and rape more than women. By your logic, are men also shit in general? Come on man, don't turn this sub into what you claim you fight against.

ohvicerino • 0 points • 10 October, 2019 04:59 PM

Unicorns do not exist. Giving you rights it is not a thing to be proud of, it was a mistake. Most men who are criminals have been raised by single mothers because they didn't have a father to teach them respect and discipline. My mom divorced dad when I was 13 and my sister 11 because she thought she will find a better man. Now, my sister is sleeping around with all the wealthy men she can find and I've been to juvy at 17, since then I am the black sheep of the family even though I am now a decent man. Now my mother is alone and sad because of what she did to my father. Everything I say is based on something that happened in the past, mine or someone else's. I do not make false statements. You will cheat on your husband/lover or betray him in one way or another eventually, and it's totally ok because it's normal for you, if you have one, of course.

LateralThinker13 • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 05:10 PM

Giving you rights it is not a thing to be proud of, it was a mistake.

No, giving them rights without the concurrent responsibilities was the mistake. Most WOMEN resisted suffrage - until they learned that they would not have the draft or other required service to compensate for it like men did.

Divorce rates only went up after no-fault divorce became widespread.

And so on. Look to where women don't have the same responsibility as men, and you find where the cancer is.

vviviann • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 05:18 PM

Man that was sad. You clearly have some internalised hatred towards women due to your mother. You're not the black sheep because you're a "decent man", you're a black sheep because you genuinely think women shouldn't have rights. I genuinely feel for the poor women who will ever come your way

ohvicerino • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 06:10 PM

Hatred for what? I just look in the past and learn from others people mistakes. If you can't finish an argument properly don't start it. When you are in an argument with someone and you start attacking them personally you just lost because you ran out of things to say.

vviviann • 2 points • 10 October, 2019 06:35 PM

Nah mate. Your entire previous argument was about personal life, I just responded to it and came my conclusion about why you have these beliefs

kevinnelson89991 • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 07:49 PM

Your argument is based on anecdotes and things that are evidently untrue. This is where you lose the 'argument'. Also, troll.

Jizera • 4 points • 10 October, 2019 05:00 PM

I'm not sexist, but this is the reality.

No, you are sexist.

ohvicerino • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 05:15 PM

The reality is sexist, the reality is racist, the reality doesn't care about you or your feeling, the reality is the truth and the truth cannot be change just so you can feel better

kevinnelson89991 • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 07:47 PM

Right, you said you're not sexist, and are now going completely back on that. The truth can be changed (e.g currently I'm sitting down, that's a fact and I can change that by standing up) and you skew what you mean by truth to suit your world view (which is everyone from 'insert group here' is 'insert negative characteristic here'). There is such thing as an individual, humans have different individual characters and you clearly haven't met enough people to decide everyone from a given race or gender is all the same. Quit jacking off, step out of your mom's basement and go talk to someone.

ohvicerino • 1 point • 11 October, 2019 11:12 AM

All women look different but their behavior is the same. I really cannot understand the way you think. I typed in a comment that they shouldn't be treated based on their sex but on their actions, I don't know how to make it clearer and your reply to that is that I am sexist because you think I'm saying that they should be treated differently because they are women. I just don't know how to speak to people like you which is the majority of the left. You all really cannot understand basic logic. You just take a sentence and interpret it as you please instead of getting the indended meaning of it.

kevinnelson89991 • 1 point • 11 October, 2019 02:02 PM

First if all, I'm not on the left. Also, you're saying that behaviour is determined by sex, and therefore by transitive property they should be treated differently due to gender because 'all women behave the same'. You can't form an argument, you internal logic is broken and you fail to admit to it. Listen, if you're arguing that people should be treated differently based on personal actions (which is fair), then you can't follow up by saying that are certain inherent characteristic (e.g gender) absolutely determines behaviour, because that would render the first statement completely redundant. Clear entity for you?

vicsj • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 07:54 PM

"I'm not sexist, but..."

Careful, you are starting to sound more like the feminists if anything; generalising the opposite sex, accusing the opposite sex for everything wrong in the world, describing your gender as more superior (or less retarded in your words) and wanting to limit or remove the right of body autonomy for the opposite sex.

TheLichKing-Zeyd • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 10:28 PM

You're right ,you're the bad guy

katsnackshackysacks • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 11:46 PM

As a feminist it is refreshing for me to see how many individuals are sharing some good honest, depolarizing, and intelligent comments such as this one. It's really not that complicated to be reasonable and many of the responses on this thread demonstrate that quite well.

kanyeawilo • -5 points • 10 October, 2019 03:39 PM

Islam was right about women.

Where 3 or more women congregate, the devil does not need to go there as he knows his job will be taken care of. (Backbiting, sowing discord, gossiping, hatred, jealousy)

Actual belief in Islam.

HBenedek38 • 8 points • 10 October, 2019 08:20 PM

Don't fall for trad thots. Women like this are the first to fall back on radical feminism the moment their big, strong man doesn't give them what they want.

misterblobbie • 3 points • 10 October, 2019 05:26 PM

That pinned tweet is pathetic. It's sad that anyone would idolise this woman's views.

MikePencil69_v2 • 2 points • 10 October, 2019 08:17 PM

No

HaraNostariel • 1 point • 10 October, 2019 10:41 PM

Her pinned tweet is disgusting. This is antifeminism, not promen or whatever.

[deleted] • -4 points • 10 October, 2019 07:15 PM

She's right you know