

Beyoncé, the good example of feminist hypocrisy.

June 30, 2020 | 178 upvotes | by Pro_Male_Vanguard

Beyoncé, the idol of bourgeois liberal feminists, pays 64 cents/hour to female workers who make clothes of her brand IvyPark in sweatshops in Sri Lanka while preaching female empowerment.

25,575 points • 892 comments • submitted 1 year ago by shy_monster_1312 to r/LateStageCapitalism

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

Names-all-taken • 21 points • 30 June, 2020 05:30 PM

Instead of a ball and chain, she shoulda put a ring on it

MingSushi • 12 points • 30 June, 2020 07:57 PM

Her music literally just fills so many women's heads with hot air and making their egos bigger than it already is. Beyoncé is the best example of first world feminists who try to act like victims and "No one understands their pain" but literally have everything handed to them and have so much attention, money and love from others.

Ubakan • 6 points • 1 July, 2020 03:02 AM

It's unfortunate because the real disenfranchised peoples are those who are currently being worked like slaves. They can be any race but particularly its South Asians who get the worst experiences. Even in Qatar, South Asians were being exploited and deceived into working on the stadium in anticipation for the next world cup if I'm not mistaken.

No one gives a fuck because they don't even have a voice. We like to listen to the entitled pleas of first worlders yet people are still being worked as slaves all around the world by the very people we consider to be against racism and exploitation.

Life is one big fucked up joke and mess of hypocrisy

the-mega-sad • 1 point • 30 June, 2020 10:09 PM

"Bring the beatings" ryl-05 • 0 points • 1 July, 2020 01:03 AM

She makes good music though