That's straight up medical battery.

I seem to be saying this a lot, but it's symptomatic of a bigger issue. masculinity is under increasing attack because people are starting to accept femininity as the correct way to do things.

Bobbybouche1501 • 51 points • 16 July, 2020 06:31 PM

I'm new here but I've been witnessing this a lot the past few years, I mean how could anyone not obviously. It's like people are forgetting that masculinity and femininity both exist together in nature and everyone wants to make all masculinity out to be this evil awful thing. I've seen posts defining what people would describe as " healthy masculinity" and it really just sounded like watered down feminism.

Something that really gets me though is how did we get to this point? I know it's a dumb question but I kinda feel like we should have it made by now. I mean, we conquered the elements, rose to the top of the food chain, AND we are the larger and more physically dominant gender (of which there are only 2 of course □).

So then why do they seem to be the ones holding all the power? It seems to me that they have basically tricked us into handing over a large portion of our power because at the end of the day women may come up with the ideas but we enforce them on ourselves. In my opinion this in and of itself is kind of a mind control superpower and alludes to the thought that maybe they were actually equally as powerful as us right from the beginning, their strength is simply getting us to turn on ourselves where as ours is a physical and emotional strength.

This is impressive honestly but balance has to be kept. We can't let them destroy masculinity as a whole any more than they can sit back and let us completely own them. This is not to advocate the idea of owning women or denying them rights, however its obvious that they don't wish to maintain an equal balance and therefore we really need to wake up already and stop ALLOWING this to happen, Because as I said already, we are enforcing this on to ourselves and I really wish I could understand why.

simplecountry_lawyer • 25 points • 17 July, 2020 01:26 AM

The most powerful men of the ruling class are masculine as fuck. These men control the media and the culture. They're systematically eliminating their competition by feminizing the culture. Masculinity in the working class = revolution.

Bobbybouche1501 • 7 points • 17 July, 2020 02:06 AM

If you have any ideas on how to add some masculinity back to the working class I'm onboard. Let's make it happen and spread the word.

billyrubin1 • 13 points • 17 July, 2020 03:13 AM

Begin by finding the courage to tell the left to phuck-off. I'm happy to put all my white male privilege into the fight.

simplecountry_lawyer • 4 points • 17 July, 2020 07:51 AM

First thing is to get people to organize and unite. That means no more identity politics, no more left and right. Just working class people putting aside their differences and not getting distracted by the media that is constantly and intensely trying to divide them into ever increasing subgroups all at each other's throats. United we stand. Divided we fall. Masculinity should be a uniting force.

IterMercator • 5 points • 17 July, 2020 05:40 PM

working class

Mate working class ain't the problem. Middle class are the ones being feminised. It's the circle of times and men, working class never got those good times that the middle class have, so likewise the men aren't weak.

Especially in Britain, third world immigrants have made the times worse since you've essentially got these people from literally war torn countries, so you either have to get as strong as them or drown, especially in schools. (Went to a secondary school with a lot of black and turkish students, you can tell they was another level from the white kids)

VOICE_OF_OBLIVION • 6 points • 18 July, 2020 07:23 AM*

Third world immigrant male youth tend to be naturally redpill. I'm 1 and none of my friends know what the fuck TRP is and nor do they give a fuck, but they repeat 90% of the concepts on here under another name (my friends are mostly blacks/north Africans and Arabs/Turks).

It seems to me that mainstream white youth tend to be brainwashed by feminist BS, except for some outliers. This is actually the main reason why I can't associate with mainstream white people (only have a few Russian/eastern european friends who seem to be naturally redpill as well).

Cplpunishment03 • 2 points • 23 July, 2020 11:41 AM

I cant argue with that....and its fucking sad

TANRIKUT_ • 2 points • 26 July, 2020 05:41 PM

Can't tell anything about Arabs or blacks but as a Turk myself i can definitely confirm that Turks are based as hell. Its most likely natural though. Since Turkey is a country like someone made a country out of TRP doctrines.

travel-bound • 2 points • 21 July, 2020 05:48 PM

Point your efforts towards being the masculine ruling class. The end result will be more fun.

They are holding pussy hostage.

Look up testosterone levels on 25 yo kids now compared to 25 yo kids 50 years ago.

Men can't take pussy anymore. It has to be given now. Pussy doesn't want to hand itself over. It wants to be taken. Pussy mad now.

Our sons ask now: "what do you want in exchange for your pussy?"

And you just don't ask fish how to catch it.

We're fucked.

Alzatorus • 12 points • 17 July, 2020 03:19 AM

I would love to see a study on Testosterone levels between RP and askTRP members VS blue pill over time. That would be very interesting.

beginner_ • 7 points • 17 July, 2020 05:59 AM

One could argue that you don't ever need TRP if your testosterone was high to begin with. Anyway when I found TRP I got myself tested and it was pretty low. No idea know. But 0 change for any official treatment. You have to lie/make up some story to get tested to begin with. "Just out of interest" doesn't count.

Hobarik • 2 points • 17 July, 2020 12:10 PM

At home testosterone test kits are actually widely available at many stores now. Of course by "at home" I mean you swab yourself and send it in to a company to test your hormone levels, but unless you're averse to a company having that information about you, the opportunity exists.

StarchRunner • 1 point • 21 July, 2020 05:40 AM Diet is responsible for a lot of this. TRP treatment is a bandage you pay lifelong for when you can fix the problem and save money.

Take milk for example. It's a relatively modern food (less than 20k years) where no other species in the wild drinks milk of another species, esp after weaning. And on top of that, since the 1970s, cows are bred to give milk during pregnancy not just after birth. So high amounts of estrogen.

Since all store milk is a mix of hundreds to thousands of cows, no getting away from it.

Theres more but that's all the time I got.

beginner_ • 1 point • 21 July, 2020 05:54 AM

Maybe this or simply milk has quite a lot of fat and calories. It doesn't look like much on the label but then if you drink 1 cup the values on the label can be multiplied by 2 or 3 at least depending on cup size. eg. avoiding milk as a very easy way to lower caloric intake.

Ivan_The_Reddish • 1 point • 22 July, 2020 03:37 AM

The reason we're the only species that drinks another species' milk is because we're the only species with the ability to obtain another species' milk. Most other mammals would consume milk if given the opportunity, just look at the stereotype of cats and cream.

darkstar1031 • 16 points • 16 July, 2020 10:46 PM

There's no such thing as a 25 yo kid. Kids inferres children. Calling a grown man a kid is part of the problem. The average age of Army captains is 25 years old. Captains in the army lead company sized formations. I was on my 2nd deployment by 25. Are you inferring that these are children?

throwing8smokes • 32 points • 17 July, 2020 12:10 AM most 25 year olds in society are definitely manchildren. total increase in peter pan syndrome, AKA failure to launch syndrome, in the last decade+

Alzatorus • 10 points • 17 July, 2020 03:25 AM

To be fair, I completely take your point and understand the perspective, but I also believe we should remember that the army has a vested interest in getting young boys to join early. Obviously from a physical performance point of view, but also from a conditioning point of view. Christ, I look back and know that I was incredibly impressionable around late teens to early 20's. I'm not dishing on the Armed forces, we wouldn't be who we are without you guys (so mad props) but at the same time, many boys are led in to the army with a glorified impression of it. If anything, it pisses me off. Especially as the 'join the army' adverts (here in the UK) make it look like some CoD game, which is just wrong imo.

gabberger1 • 2 points • 17 July, 2020 11:34 AM

Same army adverts in Germany. They even say things like „don't play a video game, if you can do it in real“ and shit like this. They are presented next to the CoD spot on the GamesCon (Germany's biggest video games convention), full with teenagers, trying to sign them for the army. How fucked up is this...

Anyone who voluntarily joins the army when they could very well send you to bomb innocent arabs half the world away has the brain of a child, yeah.

Holy shit. Me. I'm a 25 yo kid! What the hell!? maybe that's why I get depressed a lot... I've always just assumed my T would be in normal levels considering my age but maybe I'll get tested.

And yeahhh dude those were much better days for sure and without a zombie apocalypse or something we will probably never get back to anything similar to that. Very sad considering everyone women included would probably be happier.

Duuuude fuck a downvote, I absolutely agree with that. where did you read this? Im Interested to know what time it was written because all of those things have been happening. I always noticed how over the past ten years or so you see a lot more commercials and things with gay couples to slowly normalize the idea. I have no problems with gay people but sometimes I feel I'm seeing so much of this "subliminal normalization" or whatever you wanna call it that it seems aggressive. Almost like I'm no longer normal for being a straight male who isn't confused about anything.

Also, the pedophilia thing is already happening too sadly! There's a group out there calling themselves "minor attracted people" which is just a fancy way to say that little kids turn them on, and they want rights to be that way :( . They claim they are attracted to kids but most say they would never touch one so apparently that makes it ok. This means in the future you could take your kid to the park and some fucking creep might be staring at them thinking all sorts of fucked up shit and there won't be anything you can do. The world is a twisted place right now.

Just so happens that this all started happening at the same Time feminism became popular. Coincidence? Maybe... maybe not.

[deleted] • 4 points • 17 July, 2020 07:50 AM

True, there is a subliminal mindshit/brainwashing going on. We are getting taught new and different things.

Whoever has control over the press, media and channels has the control over the world.

And the information I got was from a muslim ressource. Think that was a video describing all of these things.

I saw it back in 2010 I think, the video was bit older. But this is already what's been known for a very long time. It just gets applied to this world right now in this time.

Ah and side note, the guy in the ressource talked also about that the form of money will completely disappear. Like humans won't pay with physical money anymore and the paper will basically become worthless.

I was also quite shocked about that and thought how that should happen?

But today I just pay cashless for my groceries and everything else lol.

VOICE_OF_OBLIVION • 1 point • 18 July, 2020 07:32 AM

Paper money disappearing is dangerous and should be opposed, we need ways to purchase shit without there being ANY record (bitcoin is nice, but still theoretically has electronic records, even if they're encrypted).

Thankfullly I don't think north Americans will let go of cash ever

White men were never evil. They were just the victors. If you think they're evil because they successfully colonized then you're an idiot. If you understand RP, then you should understand that completion is virtuous and there's nothing wrong with winning.

And the truth is, historically 99% of white men were too poor to ever oppress anyone.

Not_A_Degenerate_ • 7 points • 17 July, 2020 04:50 AM

If you're going to ascribe all the sins of whites and jews upon us, you can damn well give us their triumphs as well. As a group, we have been the primary force in removing all racial boundaries in our modern lives, creating a society where people might be judged not by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character. We put that all behind us, for a better world.

And you know what we got in return? Condemnation. Vilification. It's gotten to the point where I hesitate to ever have children with a woman who happens to be non-minority, because if she's white, our children will be discrimwnted against through affirmative action or outright repealing of the civil rights act (Cali).

You're not making things better. You're just swinging the pendulum in the opposite direction, feeling vindicated in your righteousness of oppression, failing to realize that when you've won, you'll simply be destroyed by a group that doesn't give a shit how oppressed you are (cough chy-na cough).

[deleted] 17 July, 2020 04:52 AM*

[deleted]

Not_A_Degenerate_ • 8 points • 17 July, 2020 05:02 AM

You're right. They aren't judged on the content of their character anymore--- if you're white, then fuck you, you don't need scholarships or government jobs. You're so stuck in your mindset of being oppressed that you're not able to look within, acknowledge your failings, and improve yourself. Men, often white men, are told if somethings wrong than it's their own damn fault, and they have to be the ones to fix it. Funny how that correlates with success.

You laugh, now. If you people have your way, you'll either create a fresh generation of monsters born into race war, or be stomped out of existence in a decade or two when China decides that the mainland US looks appetizing. And if I'm dead by then, I'll look down, and laugh. All you're proving is that true altruism is not naturally selected for, something our gentle, snowflake culture has forgotten.

Bobbybouche1501 • 18 points • 16 July, 2020 07:53 PM

I totally agree that white masculinity is being attacked the most and I think that's an excellent point to mention but I do feel that it extends to masculinity as a whole eventually and after they have successfully wiped out WM they will start tearing down all masculinity.

But yeah as of right now If you aren't a minority, or are LGBT then it's fuck you basically.

chopping_livers • 3 points • 16 July, 2020 08:29 PM

No. It's whoever feels more guilty about forcing dicks down their throats by not reading the signs that that's what she really wants.

[deleted] • 1 point • 17 July, 2020 07:42 AM

I'd say it's more the western men they are attacking

Er1ss • 10 points • 16 July, 2020 11:03 PM

Women inherently achieve power through social channels while men achieve power through physical channels. In this great modern world we build there are very few physical channels to garner power while everyone is socially connected.

Women naturally understand powertalk while most men don't.

Therefor it's logical that since the industrial revolution women have been steadily gaining power.

There is no overarching solution besides regressing to a less technologically advanced and less comfortable society where physical power is significant.

On an individual level understanding powertalk is key. Anyone who takes any pro feminine talk at face value has already lost.

Bobbybouche1501 • 3 points • 17 July, 2020 02:04 AM

Hmm power talk you say? What is this... power talk you speak of?

IterMercator • 1 point • 17 July, 2020 05:48 PM

I wouldn't say power talk is why it's happening, but the same idea. Women naturally have an advantage in life, especially when attractive, this allows them to easily float to the top roles when compared to men. It's also why the ones who know they are attractive and know how to manipulate (blue pilld) men tend to also be at the top.

Powertalk doesn't really work for women (smaller frame, smaller height, their value is in attractiveness rather than power), however what does work for women is that their words are worth more (due to being women), so that's more what's at play here.

Apart from that what you said is pretty much true. Hard work and labouring away is a dead game now, networking, who you know, and talking your way to the top is the game now

Er1ss • 2 points • 17 July, 2020 07:20 PM

I think you are misunderstanding what powertalk is. It's basically any covert communication. When you say something with a goal besides the factual content of the communication that is powertalk. Most of feminism is powertalk on a global scale. The goal is not what is said. The goal is power and arguably being stopped in getting that power by a male force so they can feel safe and secure in the knowledge that there is still a strong masculine force in control.

TricksterOffFate • 1 point • 19 July, 2020 08:06 PM

You speak of women but you do not see the puppeteers above them. Lets take Disney Star Wars like exemple. Most are cursing Kattleen Kennedy, but they do not give much attention to Bob Iger that put her in controle and gave her green light to all her projects.

Bobbybouche1501 • 1 point • 19 July, 2020 09:13 PM

Bobbybouche1501 • 4 points • 16 July, 2020 06:46 PM

Guilty of what lol? What did we do? I mean in previous centuries we haven't always treated them well I guess but fuck man we have women running for prez these days so im not sure what else they want from us except our souls.

meowgoesdog • -9 points • 16 July, 2020 07:53 PM

I don't think men and females always have been equal in terms of opportunity in the broader context of history, look at countries outside US and EU today and realize we treated women the exact same way only a hundred years back or so.

Women had it like shit for a very long time, but a lot of things have changed and today I would say life for women and men are very equal in most modern societies. But thing is, if someone punches you in the face for hundreds of years, you are not gonna be fine with them suddenly being like "yeah ok i wont punch you in the face again, but we good now right?". There is probably an element of justice incorporated into the motivation a lot of women feel for expressing their feministic views, women probably (in many cases implicity) feel that it's now their time to have the upper side of things, because its only fair right?

This in combination with two other things (obviously not exclusively so) helps create this disaster:

1. A big part of the societal function men used to serve has faded with time, most jobs do not require physical strenght to be dealt with, women can also work and take care of themselves perfectly fine. This also is associated with the fact that a big part of the job market has been digitalized, jobs don't want their workers to lift heavy and shit like that, or work extremely long hours doing physically craving work, cus workers get hurt and corporations then have to pay for sickleave and all that shit.

We also do not protect women in the same way we used to. Compared to hundred of years ago women probably feel way more safe today, back then they needed a man by their side just to go outside. Now this hasn't faded completely, hence why women still appriecate a big strong man, it's just not as significant anymore. Also a discussion could be had about how fast women can adapt to the change of context, i.e are women still gonna be instincually attracted to men who gives signs of being able to protect them, even when they are certain they don't need protection?

1. It's not just that women have "outplayed" us through time to incorporate this feminism thing into mainstream culture, it's also the fact that a lot of men agree, I mean hell, most men fucking agree with their bullshit. We aren't really dealing with fair odds when it comes to numbers here. Beta males got brainwashed to buy their bullshit to get pussy, and we have to deal with the consequences of this horrible trade, probably the worst trade in history or something like that.

1. We need a fucking war to break out. I think a lot of countries lack crisis, I mean to me it seems that the countries that most suffer from feminism as a political force are the countries that least require manpower to protect their country from other countries or dangerous organisations. I don't think women could get away with all this bullshit if men we're busy saving their lives killing intrucers trying to get over the boarder. Kinda goes back to point number 1, feminism might be a reponse to the fact that women do not need men anymore, and so they probably feel like they can fuck with us more.

chopping_livers • 14 points • 16 July, 2020 08:21 PM

Except that females never felt like getting punched in the face. They were happy on how it was.

People forget that women got voting rights globally about 30 years later than males who didn't own any land, give or take some.

meowgoesdog • 6 points • 16 July, 2020 09:12 PM*

It doesnt really matter when the feminists portray it as a time of societal opression and injustice for women, regardless of how most women actually felt back then. Also perhaps women measure happiness by other standards today, their happiness today probably revolves greatly around things women were forbidden to associate with back then. And so that could create the thought that they themselves would be very unhappy in that other historical time, because they ignore the bigger historical context and the fact that women back then perhaps saw the house and family as means of happiness, rather than a prison.

I.e even if your friend at the bar wasnt actually punched in the face, him telling you so would still have you go search for the fucker who did it.

We need a fucking war to break out...

Iraq, Afghanistan, Korea, a huge chunk of Africa, South and Central America, Albania/Kosovo, Iran, ISIL, The Philippines, how many more do we need? We've been in a near constant state of war for the better part of 60 years. There's really no need to add to our already embarrassingly large number of enemies. We have plenty of fights already.

meowgoesdog • 0 points • 17 July, 2020 02:23 AM

Not sure what "we" refers to exactly but if you are refering to west as a whole then yes most certainly there is no lack of conflict, but fact is conflicts are also adapting to modern contexts, many international wars today are fought economically through linked markets and debits, politics are what win wars not guns, again, not a context where the capacity of man comes into great display exactly, I think it's not a coincidence that feminism really became radical at least 15 years after WW2 ended, theres no way they'd pull that shit during the 1950's.

Now there are a lot of solider men who are fighting and have fought, but really the arguments core revolves around womens perception of the societal function of man, not the actual reality of life for men, or the actual objective function they bring with whatever that reality might be for them.

I think its a worthwhile discussion to bring forward if one is to claim that feminism could partly be a reaction to women feeling more and more unappreciative of men: Is it because we are actually becoming less useful to women and society - or is it merely because women have decided (maybe not always explicitly) to view us like so regardless of an actual change of function? I think both answers are correct.

I know im kinda sperging with that 3rd point, if u read original comment I was actually planning on writing only the upper 2, the 3rd kinda just came with in the heat of the moment you know as things sometimes do, but still it feels right you know? Like it makes sense to me. Kinda reminds me of Maslow's hierarchy of needs, and all that stuff, so I decided to defend it anyways.

Bobbybouche1501 • 2 points • 17 July, 2020 01:26 AM

Men have a sex organ that penetrates. Women have a sex organ that consumes.

What does society prefer for the majority citizens to be?

Consumers.

KnockKnockKGB • 11 points • 17 July, 2020 01:21 AM

No it's a stupid specious connection to make.

T-H-I-Z-Z • 17 points • 16 July, 2020 08:15 PM*

No it actually isn't. I know it sounds asinine, but I can explain. It comes down to what the psychoanalysts defined as the "phallus." The phallus is usually symbolized as an erect penis, but what it really means is power and domination.

Men are men because of their desire to have the phallus, while women are women because of their desire to be the phallus. So what does this mean? Men wish to have power, while women wish to be power. Being the power, in the eyes of most men, means being "used," but in the eyes of most women, it is an honor.

If there is a conspiracy to feminize men for the purpose of creating a more docile society, this is why. Of course, I am not an expert in this field and this may be a bit off base, but it's close enough.

SalesyMcSellerson • 8 points • 16 July, 2020 08:53 PM

Hasn't Freudian psychology been debunked for nearly a century, now?

mikrodizels • 14 points • 16 July, 2020 11:31 PM

Is it even something that can be debunked? It's a subjective perspective to look at the world.

facestab • 11 points • 17 July, 2020 02:09 AM

Freud hasn't been debunked. Just the stupid shit people did with his theory. He created the field of psychoanalysis and he pioneered the interpretation of symbolic meaning.

SalesyMcSellerson • 5 points • 17 July, 2020 03:28 AM

I understand that he's a pioneer in the field of psychology, but it was understanding that almost all of his theories are debunked and rather that he moved the field toward a more rigid discipline.

I wouldn't know, though. It's not my area of expertise.

sensual_predditor • 5 points • 17 July, 2020 09:39 AM

facestab • 3 points • 17 July, 2020 03:31 AM

Yes that is my understanding of it as well. Fried founded the practice but an orthodox following of his teachings didn't pan out.

T-H-I-Z-Z • 0 points • 17 July, 2020 04:38 AM

No, psychoanalysis, and it's cousin psychodynamics, is still widely practiced and respected. It's the only form of therapy that ever helped me. All the new school stuff was useless.

One doctor prescribing something and getting lots of flak for it doesn't make for a decline just yet. Medical mistakes are cause of death #3 in the USA, partly because doctors are chronically sleep deprived and overworked.

This is just one doctor, to me this is just another medical error, not evidence of a systematic plot to eradicate masculinity.

Watch out with that, just like " good Christian girls ". The more suppressed a person feels, the more likely they'll do it. If not out of spite, just to enlighten there ignorance. I can't say I have a solution but hard suppression is not and historically has never been the right answer.

nofappist • 13 points • 17 July, 2020 09:22 AM

Boys naturally gravitate to masculine activities. My parents were 'progressive' and gave us both kinds of toys, luckily they were not insane so when it turned out we had typical boy interests like LEGOs, sports and Minecraft, they accepted that. Most boys will not need any suppression, they just need you to let them choose what their interests are, and they need you to teach them what society demands from a man to respect him. For the rest, accept the reality in front of you. Suppression is only going to cause harm and resentment, and people who don't conform to gender norms are already predisposed to all kinds of suffering.

halfback910 • 4 points • 17 July, 2020 02:04 PM

Just teach your children logic and that will incline them towards redpill and being anti sjw and anti leftist.

My father never indoctrinated me. But he taught me to reason and would engage me, not as an equal when I was young, but as someone who was worthy of the time to articulate his beliefs to in at least a simple way.

The worst thing to say to a child is "Because I said so."

Teach them that good beliefs are justifiable. Teach them that beliefs SHOULD be justified. That alone will make them anti left because the left basically just says "because I said so".

The man-control path in the future won't be administering estrogen. It will be suppressing testosterone. That will keep boys from being aggressive and competitive and developing muscle. It will be spun as something good for the boys since it will curb disruptive behavior and improve attention in school, and leave their options open to choose other genders and sexualities in the future, which many will do since they don't have testosterone making them feel male or desire sex. Lower sex drive and aggression will also reduce the crime rate, especially rape and violent crimes. Being male will be reduced to a disease that must be prevented or cured, the same way pregnancy has become a disease.

I've always found this logic to be so backwards and beta. Imagine some guy moves into your house and starts fucking your wife, you're basically saying, I'm out, I don't want to deal with this shit. You now gave this guy who just fucking cucked you, your house.

All you're doing is saying, " I'm a pussy and I can't raise a man to survive and thrive in chaos. Let the real men run the world " giving up on kids because the world is filled with idiots is just making sure the idiot population grows.

I completely understand saying you don't want kids because " fuck that, fuck them and fuck this world ". is it selfish? Yeah, but it makes more sense than saying " I can't raise a kid because I'm too pussy to deal with the world "

Stron2g • 2 points • 20 July, 2020 11:18 AM

I've always found this logic to be so backwards and beta. Imagine some guy moves into your house and starts fucking your wife, you're basically saying, I'm out, I don't want to deal with this shit. You now gave this guy who just fucking cucked you, your house

I think it would be more accurate to say that about men who already have children THEN give up on them.

In this analogy choosing not to have kids would be more like never getting married in the first place.

All that being said, you make a good point about percentage of idiot population and the greater struggle for our future humanity, I'm more inspired to have children in the future now. Thanks brew

<https://youtu.be/nnJlznbnNRDA>

arakouzo • 14 points • 16 July, 2020 09:35 PM

There is a modern anti-masculinity craze. In the past, orderlies would tackle actually crazy and dangerous men and force medication on them to make them calm and zombie-like. And that is fine. These were actually sick and dangerous men.

But today, there is an undercurrent that all men are dangerous, and a man who raises his voice or stands too close, or a teenage boy who does not listen to authorities, is not a normal interaction but a dangerous mental illness. An oppositional teenage boy (especially a troubled child in juvie) is a normal encounter. But today, a boy who does not listen is regarded as dangerous and appropriate to medicate into submission.

Exercise has been shown to drastically improve male performance in school, to the level of female students. An hour in the morning is plenty. But who profits from that? Exercise is free.

nofappist • 2 points • 18 July, 2020 08:46 AM

"To the level of female students" is a third-hand source from a book I read once, so take it with a grain of salt. There are likely more factors than insufficient exercise which negatively affect male performance in school.

Here are some studies and reviews about this, see the "Similar articles" for some more relevant studies.

But how can you argue against it? It used to be accepted that if you gave up any amount of freedom for any amount of comfort/security you deserved neither but modern society is all about comfort/security.

I tend to think of the primary difference between humans and animals is we will seek out pain if we think it will be a benefit later. Working out being the first example in my mind. Exercise is an absolutely foreign idea to animals but we see that there will be a benefit even though at times it will hurt a lot. But your modern human is fat, lazy and a coward.
