Got a couple ideas, thinking I biffed on answering honestly to begin with but whatever. Adapt, improvise, overcome.

This isn't a shit test.

But yes frame your interactions playfully as though she's a kid. I always do this

Yea, with this one I wasn't sure if finger paintings was a little too child like/painted a pedophilic image.

But I agree, the age question always comes off to me as needing an honest answer. Even though when asked, it feels like a type of shit test. Poking the frame, maybe.

Not bad.

But why are you chatting thru text? Meet up in person, leave txtng for logistics only.

She asked me my age out of the blue.
