So I'm in a discord server for university students and there is a women only chat. We are all above 18 and one young woman brought up that she finds it disturbing that child like features are everywhere in pornography.

It sparked a conversation.

We all discussed how much pedofelia is rooted in pornography and it's link to child abuse, abuse and erectile disfunction. That other college guys have no problem with it. That it's disgusting and can be classified as cheating. We talked about how we feel shamed for being vanilla and how it's solely for benefaction of men.

I added to the conversation by sending some links to FighttheNewDrug.org.

It's happening fellow ladies, the movement against pornography is growing

NOTE: This sub does NOT support the commercial porn industry, as it is an institution that promotes and normalizes sexual aggression, incest, pedophilia, violence, racism, degradation, low sexual satisfaction, and objectification of women and girls, many of whom have been drugged, raped, misled, trafficked and otherwise coerced to appear on film.

Aaand this is why we need women only spaces!

ReignOnYou95 • 33 points • 28 February, 2021 04:26 PM

Also just look at the porn titles theyre so fucking gross and dehumanizing. I have no clue why pickme "sex positive" women are okay with it.

I question how many are actually okay with it and how many just haven't had a woman-only space where they can think for 2 seconds without being browbeaten by men.

I was going to comment the same thing. The reason you see it a bit more is because women are making more women only spaces where they feel comfortable to actually bring it up and not get beaten to death in the comments by men and men supporting pick me's.

Omg, thank you. Especially the vanilla shaming is real!

I agree. When I mentioned to my 80 year old mom that there's all these young guys now with ED from jerking off to porn all day, she had actually heard about the issue. That tells me the movement is growing for sure.
