

Learn why you need to be together with a post wall used up woman after she's done playing

1008 upvotes | 2 May, 2021 | by Marfi09

She never would have given you a chance when she was 20

When her skin was clearest, her social life was the most robust, she was in her best physical shape and when her youthful energy was at her peak, she wasn't into you

So what? Don't get caught up in that. Grow up. People mature.

She's approaching her 30s now. She's more mature. Her worldview is different. Her priorities are different. Looks don't matter as much now. Her height preferences have relaxed. Before you had to be 6'2+ to date her, now she just wants a man to be her height or taller. Her self esteem is higher. Before she would sleep with a man she just met. Now, she requires several high effort dates and impeccable charisma and commitment on the guys part before any physical contact is initiated. Her skin isn't as clear and her body isn't as fit as it used to be. So what? The stress from her work has consumed her. She has a great job, makes great money and is a total catch

The past is the past, learn to let it go. She's ready to settle down now and she wants a nice stable guy which happens to be you, embrace the present and leave the past in the rear view mirror

What the fuck is this shit??

Basically, let's tell men to accept the fact that she didn't want them in her prime and, even though she's busted, dusted and disgusted today; she wants those men whom she rejected now so go on and take her now.

How about we leave the message in this post in the "rear view mirror" and date younger women??

Alarmed_Mechanic_403 • 204 points • 2 May, 2021 10:21 AM

"busted, dusted and disgusted"

Nice. That should be a common figure of speech.

What the fuck is this shit??

It's "Don't ever make decisions based on a woman's previous choices: The Post."

The more cynical side of me suspects this was made by someone as a subtle troll, because half of this is heavily unflattering in implication, but these days Poe's Law is a bitch.

It is sarcasm, but its done well. He says the arguments clearly & rationally without injecting his own bias, so people can examine them. The obvious conclusion is 'fuck that'; but for a lot of blue pillers all theyll get is a mild headache

Yeah it's well done. I have a definite weak spot for stuff like this that's obviously beyond the pale for any thinking creature. It's a good litmus test for whether or not the "en-pee-cee"s even try to think for themselves, or if they simply gauge their agreement on the emotional vibe of strung-together buzzwords.

You had no chance when you were 20.

You were dorky, a student, no car, little money.

Approaching 40 you're more mature, have a career, a stable income and more self-esteem because you already achieve things in your life. Your worldview is different. You don't take shit any more as before, you waste less time on stupid games. You don't care as much what women require. You can afford a nice car and nice vacations. You became attractive to younger women.

The past is the past, it created the present. You're ready to settle now with a fresher, younger women interested in you and who respects you. Don't bother with those you weren't good enough before with an expired their sell-by date. Embrace the present, leave past hags in the rear view mirror.

I'm almost 30 with no debt and no kids. I am living life on easy mode, My only problem is where do I want to travel to this year for a month. Women my age look busted when you catch them without makeup. Women over 25 have essentially become invisible since my income went up dramatically.

I would have loved to be married and gone through life in my early 20s. Now? Not at all.

PMmeYourHopes-Dreams • 31 points • 2 May, 2021 10:02 PM

Yep, marriage looked good to me years ago. Now I'm in my 40s, no debt, investments, retiring next month, and I live overseas in a country filled with beautiful, feminine women. Life can get better dudes!

68w92 • 15 points • 2 May, 2021 10:09 PM

That's my plan too, looking for a place in Latin America. The laws overseas don't screw men over as much as they do in the states.

42252252 • 16 points • 2 May, 2021 11:14 PM

Going south from the US is awesome. It has it's own set of problems, but it's great living without laws and regulations suffocating every little move you make with fees, taxes, and intrusion. well, if you go to the poorer ones it's more laissez-faire, once you get the hang of it.

Joh_Ghurt • 11 points • 2 May, 2021 09:14 PM

Women my age look busted when you catch them without makeup.

You need to level up from scraping the bottom of the barrel. There are quite a few 30+ women that are well-maintained and no busted even without makeup. But you don't find them in the leftover section of your local supermarket.

42252252 • 11 points • 2 May, 2021 11:12 PM

If that's what you're seeing, you're in a very special set of circumstances. The average is what, like 5'4" and 170 pounds? When I was in HS I thought 135 was getting husky.

If you're around money, or image, or media, then you may not see the average person. They are a bit skinnier if they have the income and free time to eat "healthier" and sign up for gym stuff. (I know, healthy isn't expensive, but many seem to think it's only doable when prepackaged and grossly inflated)

Tap-Apart • 11 points • 3 May, 2021 05:42 AM

It always blows my mind that there are chicks walking around with that much weight.

I'm 5'7" and I felt like absolute shit when I was 170 lbs (no gym, garbage food).

5'4" and 145lbs is totally within reason for most girls to maintain.

[deleted] 5 May, 2021 04:45 PM

[permanently deleted]

Tap-Apart • 1 point • 5 May, 2021 05:32 PM

I picked 145lbs because that's a pretty easy weight to maintain.

Also my bias is showing here because girls with a little chubbiness is my type.

It's unfortunate that women get frustrated that they aren't the ideal weight and so they just give up and balloon to 160+

145 is just being mostly healthy and maybe a few drinks on the weekend. Sustainable moderation.

Wtfbyamey1 • 1 point • 24 July, 2021 04:56 AM

Bro even 145 lbs is slightly overweight for a 5'4" female

Bmi chart tells 130 lbs is ideal weight for 5'4" female

Tap-Apart • 1 point • 24 July, 2021 09:16 AM

I picked 145 because I wanted to pick a weight that is reasonably manageable and still attractive.

5'4" and 145 lbs is a girl that eats ok and is not sedentary (literally walking maybe 2 miles a day).

But also a girl who will enjoy pizza and beer on Saturday.

I would never ask a girl to do something I couldn't do. I mean I could give up pizza and beer but damn what is life worth living for.

I'll take a bubbly chubby girl that will make pizza with me over a skinny girl who will make me feel guilty for eating carbs.

Wtfbyamey1 • 2 points • 24 July, 2021 09:42 AM

Okay I understand

I am the kind of guy who doesn't eat carbs and makes others feel guilty when they do

So I will take the 5'4" 130 lbs chic I don't mind 145 lbs either , but that shouldn't come from chubbiness or fat , it's okay if it comes from the extra thicc booty or toned muscles

Joh_Ghurt • 8 points • 3 May, 2021 07:38 AM

If that's what you're seeing, you're in a very special set of circumstances. The average is what, like 5'4" and 170 pounds?

Forget average. Women taking care of themselves usually are between 110 and 140 lbs. They higher you go in the socio-economic status, the more you'll find women in this weight-class.

42252252 • 3 points • 5 May, 2021 01:44 AM

I think the Ahnold said something like "Being in-shape is the ultimate status symbol" once, and it's proven totally true now. It shows that not only can you "afford" to eat healthy (even though it's totally possible on the cheap) but you also have the time to spend on it.

Though the true wealth is having the self-control and discipline needed for it, which is the greatest treasure of all.

Joh_Ghurt • 1 point • 5 May, 2021 01:29 PM

True. and even further it proves you make the effort so you have the mental strength to do it.

In better society it's a little easier, because there's also a strong peer-pressure to look healthy and fit. In this environment you aren't fighting against all the slobs around you telling you, that you're a loser to want to cook vegetables instead of ordering out for pizza and burgers. Or cool-bros whose idea of manliness starts with quaffing a 12-pack of beers and beer-belly-bumping contests.

Wtfbyamey1 • 1 point • 24 July, 2021 04:56 AM

If that's the average then the average women is fat

Wtfbyamey1 • 4 points • 5 May, 2021 05:00 AM

You should never ever marry any woman above 26-27, unless you are above 40 No matter how much makeup they do or "well maintained" they look, MOTHER NATURE DOESNT STOP FOR ANYONE

This is if you want a good rational marriage If you wanna get screwed over, go ahead and marry the post wall hags

Wtfbyamey1 • 1 point • 24 July, 2021 04:58 AM

Ideally 150 lbs is good for a 5'7"-8" female not the 5'3-4"

Wolverinedog • 1 point • 6 May, 2021 11:33 AM

Sure....when is the last time you saw a thin young women, not covered in tats, nice long hair, wearing a simple slip dress (not gym clothes) with some heels?

I saw two in the last couple of months and turned my head. Not because they were exceedingly beautiful, but because they looked clean and nice. VERY rare this past decade to see that. It was the norm when I was young.

Joh_Ghurt • 3 points • 6 May, 2021 11:55 AM

It depends a lot on your location. I've been travelling a lot for business - mostly Europe - and you definitely see differences between countries. In some countries like Switzerland for example you'd see at least one woman like this every day easily in public transport. In other places, the gym-clothes alone reduce the chance to about 0%.

The past is the past, learn to let it go.

It's precisely that attitude we are having the problems of today, not in just relationships, but overall world problems. Nobody has learned from history, and yet here we are, repeating it in some fashion or another.

Fuck off with that nonsense.

itsandrewbuck • 5 points • 4 May, 2021 03:49 PM

Similar story -- good friend of mine swore that he wouldn't wait as long as I did to get married (I was on the cusp of 33). Fast forward a few years and he put 33 in the rear-view mirror, heading toward 34. He married, so he crossed the finish line...only to be divorced about 10 years after that.

How'd that race work out for him? He hates it when I mention that.

What women don't understand is this: They teach us how to view them. Not the media, not the government, no pick up artists - they teach us. It's not about "getting over" the abuse. It's about our idea of women and their nature.

When I went to college, I got really lucky with some. I was confronted with my share of scummy behaviour, but I also ran into a handful of very beautiful young girls who at their peak, would give me the time of day. So even though I am very skeptical of women, I am not as bitter as a lot of my close friends are. That makes all the difference later in life, now that I am in the driver seat. I could still see myself with a family, because I was shown good along with the bad.

The real question has never been: Where are all the good men?

The question these women need to ask themselves is: What have we done to them to make them this way?

If they checked each other more on their c*nt behaviour, a lot more doors would open for them.

That's my suspicion. I think if you're a decent woman in today's environment it should be easier to find a suitable mate to marry and start a family with than it is for a man. I know there are a few female lurkers here so I'd be curious to hear their takes.

kadk216 • 14 points • 2 May, 2021 06:28 PM

I've been with my boyfriend 4 years in August, we started dating when I was 19 almost 20, he is a year younger so he was 18 (almost 19) at the time.

We are currently planning on getting engaged this year & have designed my engagement ring together. We've lived with roommates for a few years and we both agreed we should wait to get engaged until we have our own place.

I couldn't say for sure whether I'd qualify as a decent woman, because I have made my fair share of bad choices in life, but I know for a fact my bf is an amazing person. I'm not sure if this is what you were looking for, but I thought I'd offer my input.

Alarmed_Mechanic_403 • 18 points • 2 May, 2021 09:37 PM

A few bad choices do not make you a bad person. I also don't think that you are a "bad woman" if you had a few one night stands or went out drinking a lot. The problem runs far deeper than that.

The girls I still think fondly of today all had a few things in common. They were strict with themselves before being strict with others and they were very clever when it came to figuring me out. Once they realized that I meant well and cared for them, they responded in kind.

When they spotted something that bothered me, they were curious and wanted to work on it with me instead of thinking about a quick replacement. They knew when to put in effort and they also knew when it was my turn to do so to keep the relationship healthy. They understood the value of intimacy and didn't use it as a bargaining chip. They knew they were attractive and they knew they could have sex whenever ... but they also knew that they would never grow chasing empty pleasure.

All in all: They treated me like a human being. This may sound dramatic, but a lot of women don't treat us like human beings. They are too weak to work on themselves, so they dull their brain with cheap, easy dopamine hits. As a result, they never develop a personality outside of being hedonistic and vain and simply use us as resources to stroke their egos. This starts the vicious cycle I described.

Ask yourself: When your boyfriend displays signs of trauma or insecurity – what is your immediate reaction?

Are you disgusted? Then he should leave you.

Or are you curious and interested in understanding him? Then he is lucky to have you.

Sorry for the rant, but I wanted to make sure I get the point across. What do you think?

frosted_rosehip1 points 4 May, 2021 10:29 AM [recovered]

It's simple. Across most nations the entire country would be almost entirely liberal if only women voted and almost entirely conservative if only men voted. It says nothing about individual decency but will give you an idea of what kind of life those people want to live.

So a mass of conservative men are trying to get the smaller portion of conservative women. A mass of liberal women are trying to get the smaller portion of liberal men and when they fail at 30, tries to get with leftover conservative men who didn't get their trad waifu at 20 and have been single ever since. That basically describes waatgm.

It also describes the phenomena of male feminists who are actually conservative and pretend to be liberal to gain access to liberal surplus of women and tradthots who are actually liberal but pretend to be conservative to gain access to the conservative surplus of men.

Anyways I've been with my husband since 15, now am 21, married as soon as it was legally possible. Can confirm at all points in time and even now I have many blocked trad suitors.

I really want to find housewife friends my age because friendships kinda tend to fall apart when pitted against drastically different lifestyles.... but apparently being married before 25 and on top of that not working is an extreme statistical anomaly in the anglosphere

NetherIndy • 6 points • 5 May, 2021 12:05 PM

A mass of liberal women are trying to get the smaller portion of liberal men

I'll stop you on this line, because it's wrong. The mass of liberal women hate 90% of liberal men. Sure, there's the 10% (or less) of liberal men who are simultaneously woke, confident, and genuinely hot. They do great. But the 90%... they're punching bags. They're mansplainers. They're all wanna-be rapists. They're (snarl) "allies". Women of the left beat the shit out these guys because they are emotionally sensitive to the beat-down and react to it. Thus giving the kickers some power when they feel under-empowered. When these women do date, they strongly prefer apolitical drifters-through-life.

MrNeurotypical • -3 points • 3 May, 2021 09:55 PM

I'm not female(yet, hehe JK) but as a guy I know how I always wanted to fuck every hot chick I could. I'd get one, fuck her, see a better one, fuck her, on and on. It's our nature. I keep fucking my wife because she feeds me and cleans our habitat, raises our offspring, etc. Every time I fuck a hotter chick I'm like "yeah she ain't all that" and then go fuck my wife.

Many modern women don't want to have a relationship like that. The ones that do, have them. And they get them right out of high school or college. They're getting their brains fucked out left and right by their hubbies. It works better when you're farmers but when my wife and I moved to suburbia, we had more leisure time so we fucked even more. We don't lift hay bales, we go to the gym. I saw a hot chick there I want to fuck today. I probably will too once I'm ripped. It's just programmed into our nature.

She's more mature now

Followed by

she requires several high effort dates

Am I two dimensional or these people don't comprehend what logic is, because they clearly have no idea what they're writing and repeating on the cycle of demands from her 20s.

Whoever wrote this was a feminist or male sex slave, because "the stress from her work has consumer her", yeah no shit as it sounds like an excuse for "I'm lazy, carry me".

You women fight for "equal" rights or higher position then stop fucking whining how hard it is. You want paradise, but ain't going to sacrifice 30-40 years of your life to achieve that paradise like some men have to do.

darez00 • 19 points • 2 May, 2021 06:48 PM

Zerochances121 • 1 point • 6 May, 2021 07:30 PM

Sometimes women will avoid promotions because of the stress... but for a guy? "Just make more money!"

When you point out that would mean things like staying late to work, they just don't respond... it's not their problem.

sleepyweaselisawake • 36 points • 2 May, 2021 12:10 PM

The past is the past and the present is the present.

I was blue pilld, struggling, and had if anything to offer to women in my early-20s. That was the past. Over the last 20 years, I've built my own empire and live a comfortable, satisfying life.

You were a smoke show with a tight body who commanded attention and capitalized on it. That was the past. Now, you're well passed your prime, are swimming in debt, and you have a job that pays a meager wage at best. See the difference? I'm not interested in being with someone who is used up and brings nothing to my life.

AngryCockOfJustice • 32 points • 2 May, 2021 10:14 AM king_of_the_potato_p • 28 points • 2 May, 2021 01:52 PM

The "open letter to nice guys" is one of favorites out there.

I cant find the specific one but its a late 30s woman writing a story trying to convince actual decent guys that they rejected in their youth to wait for them because its not that they dont want them, its that they are ready for them yet. Apparently according to the author, women need to sleep with dozens of shitty guys all through her best years for her to be able to appreciate a non-shitty guy.

To me it came off as a woman trying to convince beta males to keep waiting for them to be done with the carousel.

Joh_Ghurt • 26 points • 2 May, 2021 04:17 PM

You got it. What the late-30s women forget is the simple fact, that now the next generation of 20s-women is here who either want to have fun or catch a man with resources, just like they did 10 years before. At that time, they probably also made fun of the frustrated hags in their 30ies desperate to start a family and find a man to commit to them. Now she became one of those hags.

Justice can be so poetic.

SpacemanLost • 10 points • 3 May, 2021 05:00 AM

Wasn't that Sheryl Sandberg, author of 'lean In', etc?

Ahh here is it...

“When looking for a life partner, my advice to women is date all of them: the bad boys, the cool boys, the commitment-phobic boys, the crazy boys. But do not marry them. The things that make the bad boys sexy do not make them good husbands. When it comes time to settle down, find someone who wants an equal partner. Someone who thinks women should be smart, opinionated and ambitious. Someone who values fairness and expects or, even better, wants to do his share in the home. These men exist and, trust me, over time, nothing is sexier.”

MrNeurotypical • 21 points • 2 May, 2021 02:03 PM

When I hit my 30's I married that girl hitting 30 who didn't get picked by the hawt guys, didn't spread her legs, and wanted nothing more than to get married to a nice guy and have kids. She knew she had to be a good wife because she didn't have hundreds of men giving her attention and inflating her ego plus her parents raised her right. So, unfortunately for the party girls, I'm taken now that they're ready for me. One less man to go on high effort dates with. I've never been on a high effort date with my wife. She's not materialistic or narcissistic enough to waste our resources that way. She'd rather go fishing and camping or stay home and make sushi. Our most recent date was yesterday, a walk along the river as we checked if the mulberries were ready to pick. She told me all about her plans to make jam, syrup, pies, etc. She blows Betty Crocker away in the kitchen.

Hindsight being 20/20, if any of you stretched out old sluts need a booty call, I'm down for a grudge-fuck during the 5 days each month when I'm not gettin pussy. Oh what's that? You're not giving it away anymore? No prob, I can get a much better bang for my buck at the local whorehouse.

Jihocech_Honza • 14 points • 3 May, 2021 09:23 AM

I married my wife at the age of 29, she was 28. We were dating since college. She chose me although I was shy, insecure and nerdy. She was kind of a bookworm too. We were both naive, innocent and unexperined and it was great to grow together. She gave me her prime years, now I am "paying it back".

The more I watch all this dating bullshit, the more grateful I am for what we have.

MrNeurotypical • -1 points • 3 May, 2021 02:02 PM

What I found interesting after all these years is with diet, exercise, and supplemental hormones, you can get a couple extra decades of "prime" years. Gave my wife some estrogen cream and she rubbed it on her boobs and poof! big tits. Gave her some progesterone vaginally and poof! juicy pussy and hypersexual libido. I inject some testosterone and poof! hypersexual libido and Chad bod. I take some viagra and poof! erections all day long. Looks like I got the Toyota of women and she got the Lexus of men. I take her into the gym for regular tune ups and then drive her hard. I feel bad for the schmucks who got stuck with a lamborghini.

I don't even feel like I'm "paying it back". It's more like an investment that grows over time. While my boys are off at school I get sex, have a fishing partner, gym buddy, walk buddy, live-in stripper, horny housewife, cougar, MILF, highly experienced sex worker, all rolled up into one. And the best part is she's just using me for my dick. Just dick, dick, dick. That's all she ever wants to do. Gets pretty cranky if she doesn't get her daily dick. Who would've thought this innocent little woman would turn into that? lol. I mean I could go fuck a ladyboy and she wouldn't care just so long as she gets some dick from me afterwards.

Cons:

- more mature - boring
- priorities are different and ... before any physical contact is initiated - you need to pay for sex/intimacy
- her skin isn't as clear and fit - explain in pros, height
- stress from work - more nagging after her come back from work

Pros:

- she has great job and makes great money - witch she will only use on herself or MAYBE buy you some useless crap witch you would never buy
- Her height preferences have relaxed - ONLY reason this happend beacuse of her age and skin and fit from cons her market value decresed so she cant be this picky like in her early days

So we have 4 cons and 2 pros witch is actually a 0 with no real impact on you

SylvestorTalone • 15 points • 2 May, 2021 12:06 PM

Maybe she's the one who needs to let the past go, as in let go of the chance she ever had with me.

You know, I legit can't tell which angle this is written from. Is this a sales pitch for why I need to marry a used up woman or a PSA announcement about the terrible deal that entails?

asdf333aza • 15 points • 2 May, 2021 02:00 PM

If you didn't experience her during her 20s, you're basically getting a consultation prize.

Their was some kind of story in elementary school where a hen asked the 3 pigs to help back a pie. And the 3 pigs said no. So the hen backs the pie herself. And when the pie is done, the pigs come over and try to eat some of the pie. The hen tells them they can't have none since they didn't help make it.

That's basically it. Girls want you to work hard and become successful by your own and then at the end of it all they want to leech off your hard work. Girls don't want to build they just want to move in. They dont want to run the race they just want to meet you at the finish line.

[deleted] • 3 points • 4 May, 2021 02:26 PM

Some friends recently tried to set me up with a girl. My mates girlfriend told me how this chick really wanted to meet me and how amazing she was, and that she was actually coming over to the house right now.

Then right at the very end she randomly asked me "Do you like kids?"

I replied "They're ok I suppose"

She said "Great! because she has a 1 year old boy..."

"The past is the past, learn to let it go."

Sorry, but past behavior is one of the best indicators for future behavior. Several studies have confirmed that men and women who have had less than 2 sexual partners before marriage have the happiest marriages and lowest rates of divorce.

masterlock35 • 11 points • 3 May, 2021 12:36 AM

I love how society has been consistently trying to tell men it's wrong for us to have standard and self respect. Ladies freedom to do what you want does not mean you are free from judgment.

houseoftolstoy • 10 points • 3 May, 2021 02:41 AM*

The term "freedom" is often misused, this case included. Women want "freedom" to act as they want to but do not want to accept the responsibility that comes with that freedom. What those women really want is gratification, which includes not ever feeling bad about their decisions. So if you dare tell a woman you would not marry her if she slept around, you are violating her "freedom."

A perfect Dostoevsky quote for this.

This aging bitch can scarcely contain her contempt for the very men she is demanding date her. She can't even pretend like she doesn't feel like she came from royalty and is lowering herself to the filthy peasants she wouldn't have even spit on just a couple years ago.

I don't understand how she even thinks this makes sense. She acknowledges she doesn't look as good as she used to but she demands more effort from men, with her one concession being that she doesn't discriminate against height as much as she used to. Yippe. Something that men have no control over is not being judged as harshly as it used to be. Oh boy be still my beating heart. And in return for such mercy now I have to put up several "high effort dates," which I can only assume translates to "very expensive dates." I have to work for the sex that men just a couple years ago got near instantly, and with a hotter version of her.

This bitch is the equivalent of Netflix doubling prices but cutting half their catalog. Raise prices, offer less in return. GTFO

Any women who behaves like this is a disloyal whore & will always be. Learn to identify & avoid scumbag women like this

CondensedBemusement • 10 points • 2 May, 2021 02:50 PM

Nope. Because she hasn't LEARNED.

She's still demanding. She's still entitled. She still thinks she gets to set all the terms, make all the rules, and it's up to us to 'man up'.

But that shit doesn't apply ... because if she was, we wouldn't be seeing you (whoever you are) trying to convince men to give her a chance.

She had her chance. She chose to be shallow and self-absorbed. She chose the guys who made her tingle, never thinking that those guys were never going to be a long term prospect.

Now she's discovered that the guys who make her tingle are all able to get younger women (in your own words) whose skin is clearest, are in their best physical shape, with their youthful energy at their peak. Because the dynamic has changed and now it's the women who are competing.

She made her choice. She chose like a child with no care for the future. Now the future is here ... and she doesn't get to walk back her choices.

Obnoxiousjimmyjames • 9 points • 2 May, 2021 06:54 PM

Why does anyone want a relationship anyway?

How many truly happy married men do you know?

How many married men are focused on the satisfaction and joy of their loving wife and family vs the absolute focus on their children while their wife becomes more and more of a roommate?

How many couples are still together because a divorce is just too costly, especially for the man?

As a hetero male who has NEVER been single for more than 1 year since the mid 90's (and is single now) I regret wasting so much of my energy and resources on so few relationships that deserved it; I should have placed far more focus on myself. Now, I have no children, no GF, and I couldn't be happier. My last 2 attempts at dating were awful. The women were well past their prime and insufferable with their demands.

I'm going to do what I should have done decades ago: focus on myself.

If a woman comes along and she piques my interest? Fine. But I've absolutely stopped looking and it feels so fucking liberating.

I recommend trying it.

When she was dumbest, her social life excluded most men, she was hot, and had all the energy in the world to bounce on cock, she didn't want you.

So what? You have money now, and she needs it. Get over it and get your checkbook out. Be mature about it, asshole, and make yourself useful to the banged out whores who need money.

She's approaching her 30s now. She's used up. She's more cynical and jaded now. Her priorities are different, but she still doesn't prefer you. If she could have gotten Chad to wife her up, she wouldn't even have looked at you. The only reason she is looking at you is because the hot guys don't pay attention to her anymore. She will not just sleep with you. Now, she demands you spend money on her, as if this is some kind of mark of desirability. It isn't - it's a demand for free shit and for tribute, before you get anything.

She's banged out and got some miles on her - so what? Her money and great job are cool, but you won't see any of that money. Which raises the question - if she makes great money and has a great job, what does she need you for? If she makes great money, why is she demanding that YOU pay? Why isn't she spending some of that money on you?

The past is the past. You need to look into it. She's ready to settle for your boring beta ass. Nice and stable = boring and ready for utility. Don't do it. Find out about the past and ditch the bitch.

Classic gaslighting at it's finest. It's always so fascinating to find out that other people's issues are your responsibility. And, not only are you obligated to withhold judgment of their 'mistakes and misspent years of just having fun', they have the audacity to call into question your own morals for not automatically forgiving them theirs. The unspoken nature of the truth that there is an entire gender that is incapable of accepting any sort of criticism for their actions while simultaneously heaping criticism on the other at any and every opportunity is almost funny. The assumption is that men can take it and women can't. When looked at in this light the current state of gender relations all the sudden makes perfect sense. But don't you dare say it out loud.

houseoftolstoy • 6 points • 3 May, 2021 02:37 AM

Regarding forgiveness, I would argue that it requires genuine repentance to be present for the one seeking forgiveness. When I hear the description of a woman like this, I do not see a woman who is remorseful for how she previously treated the type of man she is now targeting, but rather just dislikes the consequences of her actions without any regret.

Also, forgiving someone does not mean you have further obligations to cater to their future desires. If I had a friend who owed me 1000 dollars but was unable to pay me back, I can choose to forgive that debt. If he again asks me for more money, I can then choose not to lend him more without contradicting the previous forgiveness. What this post asks for is a shielding of consequences for women who did as this woman did. That is, you just pretend that there is no reason for you to not want a woman who expected you to wait your turn until she spent her youth and beauty on other men.

Mister_McDerp • 5 points • 3 May, 2021 09:44 AM*

Your value is going up, and hers is going down. When she is in her 30s with jowls looking bitter and old, you will be in your 30s with a full beard, a strong body and smelling like a lumber jack. By the time a women hits 30, she had lost 90% of her ovarian reserve. 90%. Literally more than half of her eggs are gone. She's a declining asset by age 30, and you as a man at the same age aren't even middle aged yet. Men can produce viable sperm well into their 70s and 80s. While she at 30 is already on her last leg.

coke501 • 3 points • 3 May, 2021 12:54 PM

Before you had to be 6'2+ now she just wants a man to be her height or taller

Yeah, if she's 6' herself. If she's smaller he still would have to be 6'0+

Her self esteem is higher

Sure it is. That's why she uses enough filter to clean the sewage of Los angeles

Before she would sleep with a mean she just met

That's correct

Now, she requires several high effort dates

That's because the men she fucked before stopped dating her. And she finds the men willing to date her now really disgusting (one reason for that is that these men are willing to date her and she deems herself worthless compared to her youth) so she makes them jump through hoops hoping they'll give up.

She has a great job

| makes great money

| and is a total catch

You sure that follows? Sounds like a non sequitur.

| The past ist the past, learn to let it go.

We do. In her past we would have wanted her. We let that go, we don't want her anymore.

And in the past, generally, there'd have been man who would have given her a chance despite all of the above.
But that past is coming to an end too.

We'll watch her and her cats in the rear view mirror. Good luck with that.

Rockbottom503 • 4 points • 3 May, 2021 05:38 PM

In a nutshell; you weren't worth her time in her prime. You still wouldn't be worth her time if she was still in her prime HOWEVER she's several shades less attractive now, you lucky boy! She wants you as long as you still treat her like she is in her prime and ignore the fact she isn't.

A good way to put it. Those hoops are only worth jumping through if they are consistent, where every man before you has also had to to that. That is, if she should not be charging more for what she previously gave away for less.

Whether or not you think those hoops are really worth it, the deal is worse for any future man.

TheRabid • 3 points • 2 May, 2021 06:17 PM

People are absolutely free to ride the CC in the 20s and at any point of their life. You go girl! What's the problem?

In return, others are absolutely free to not have long term relationships with those people and also ride them (as the others rode the CC). Everyone gets to make a choice.

Yeah kinda like my first car, fat ass (bench seat), wrinkled (rust spots), high consumption (V8 engine), opinionated (burns oil). No thanks.

But I did like the car for all it faults. We took the road together which is more than I can say for many women.

Emotional_Penalty • 3 points • 2 May, 2021 10:36 PM

houseoftolstoy • 3 points • 3 May, 2021 02:28 AM

That title is the exact reason why so many men are not convinced to accept such a woman when she is now has less to offer a man. The fact is, she could have not only had the same sort of man she now will accept when younger, but he would in turn be willing to appreciate her for decades to come. Yes, the wall will be there for all women but a good man who was appreciated when you were both in your 20s will show more appreciation in return for years to come (the marriage must have solid foundation for this to work).

The past is not "just the past," it is highly indicative of who she really is. You show who you really are when you have the greatest amount of power. If she chose to use that youth and beauty for sex with the hottest guy that was almost certain not to commit, it shows no maturity and growth on her part if she looks at you as her bailout plan when she can no longer get the kind of guy she slept with before. If she did not want me when she had the greatest potential to choose, she did not really want me at all.

If this is trying to convince men to wife up the type of woman who would not give you a real chance when she was 20, it does not convince me one bit to want to wife her up.

[deleted] • 3 points • 4 May, 2021 02:46 PM

The fact is, she could have not only had the same sort of man she now will accept when younger, but he would in turn be willing to appreciate her for decades to come.

The irony is delicious!

pavlovslog • 3 points • 3 May, 2021 10:39 AM

Not sure if that was actually posted on fds, but if it was it's crazy out of touch. Setting everything else aside, like 90% of their disqualifies have to do with aspects of someone's life that are directly connected to their own past and where they are now.

Things like owning a home, health / fitness, career / money, if they already have kids or not, if the date is sufficiently executed to fawn over her before anything is really known about each other, etc etc.

And people def change, but people who go through a true maturation let their actions speak for themselves. They don't have to huddle with others in the same boat to develop a strategy that allows them to put on an act that makes it appear as if they've matured and learned from life, when in reality they're just looking for the best way to use the same tired tactics that failed before so they can fool or pressure someone else that's lonely or in a vulnerable plate into giving them everything in exchange for nothing new and an unequal partnership that started off with selfishness, misdirection, and entitlement.

That girl she's writing about may have changed. She may be the best thing for that same guy she ignored before. But if she's still stuck on the idea of having to convince him things are different it's because she's still acting in a way that demonstrates she really hasn't changed and she still believes that her words will speak loud enough that he'll forget about her ongoing actions instead of just acting like an adult and showing first hand what she shouldn't need to say.

He didn't want to marry you when you were 25

When his cock was hardest and he could have any woman he wanted, he pumped and dumped you, and doesn't want you now.

So what? Don't get caught in that. Grow up. Get over it. Move on. Pick someone else.

No one is claiming there is any entitlement but you. Men here saying they would not date a woman who a decade earlier would have outright rejected them is just them stating their own standards. Many men are just fine being single rather than being with a woman who did not really want him but rather sees him as a safety net.

If a man will only commit to and marry a woman who is chaste/virginal and submissive it his his right, as marriage has become a worse deal for men thanks to the current divorce laws and family courts. Any man that still wants to be married in this day and age should demand that, as he is being asked to risk much of himself with such an arrangement. If that means he cannot find a woman to marry, then so be it. Better to not marry than to marry wrong.

Aldabruzzo • 3 points • 4 May, 2021 03:25 PM*

Yes.

If I am being called on to give a woman access to my resources into perpetuity, and be expected to support her, and toss my body onto society's gears, and toss myself into the path of a bullet for her, if I'm to lay down my life for her and spend my entire working life footing the bill...

Then she is expected to bring what I want, be what I want, do what I want, and go where I want when I want. We will be doing things my way. If I'm paying for it, we're doing it my way. If you want my shilling, you will by fucking God dance to my tune.

I'm calling the shots, because it's my billiards table in my house.

We're playing ball how I want, because it's my ball, my court, and my property.

You'll dance how and when I want, because it's my stage and I'm the one paying for the lights.

You don't like that? Do your dance on someone else's stage. Get someone else to pay for it. Get someone else to do it your way. Get your own pool table, house, ball, and court. These are mine.

Or make your own money and pay for it yourself.

Your choice. What's it gonna be?

See, this is why men won't do this anymore. This is why men won't work for a wife and kids. This is why men won't get up and drag their asses to jobs to support others.

Because men don't want to support mouthy, lippy, entitled, ungrateful bitches. Because men don't want to live in a situation where they have no say over what happens in their own homes THAT THEY FUCKING PAY FOR. Because men don't want to receive demands for provision and then be questioned about how they provide. Men don't want to hear about how the used white beemer isn't good enough because she wanted a new red one.

Fuck that bullshit.

Oh, wait she wants some one to spawn with and then divorce rape? Yeah, that's not me.

No_Valuable827 • 2 points • 4 May, 2021 03:04 PM

Nope. She still doesn't want a good guy. Now she wants to hook a high value male. Her tastes have matured. She wants to be pampered, dotted upon, and spoiled with expensive gifts, money, and trips. She believes she is a luxury item. She has seen the world and now she needs nice things. She isn't settling for you. She knows her worth.

Zerochances121 • 2 points • 6 May, 2021 07:09 PM

"The stress from her job has consumed her."

Us guys get stressed even when we don't have good jobs because of... "expectations". We don't get a choice.

"Now she requires several high effort dates and impeccable charisma and commitment..."

With guys they barely know, right? Because it's all part of the mystery? It would help women if women would at least communicate what they'd like but they don't even do that too sometimes. I hate this post. Us guys are stable because we put the effort into it and had to work so hard to achieve it. From the very beginning too.

I'm not expecting perfection... but accountability. Make an effort to meet guys halfway than indulge in their hobbies while complaining no guy wants to approach them.
