- 3 I think I am never going to get married or have children
- My boyfriend proposed to me even though he is still legally married to his first wife. I filled out the divorce papers. I sent her the forms, she signed them and sent them back to me, but I couldn't file for him. I even gave him money for the fees. He kept putting it off then covid happened and the courthouses closed. Now they are open but he's in rehab, the forms are expired, I'm not going through that again. He wants to marry me he can divorce her himself. I don't think he's willing to put in the effort so we will never get married. I want children, but I won't go off my birth control unless we are married. I've tried dating other guys and they are even worse than my boyfriend. Assholes and fuckboys and liars. My boyfriend is the best guy out there. Sucks that my boyfriend is all he will ever be. But I'm a nanny and I love my nanny kids, and I have a puppy. So I guess I don't need a baby. Plus I think if I did get pregnant he'd just play with the baby and never discipline or parent. It sucks but this is the best I'm ever going to get. And hey, Atleast I'll get some money from selling my wedding dress.

- 32 After 3 months of only phone calls and letters, I got to see him for the first time
- I dropped him off at rehab 3 months ago. It feels like a long distance relationship. But today I went to drop off a birthday gift for him and I saw him. I ran to him and hugged him. I got to kiss him for the first time in months. He looks a million times better than when I dropped him off. He's gained weight, he has color in his cheeks again, he even has the beginnings of grey hair now. He looks better than he has in almost a year. I'm happy to support him in his recovery if this is the result. Am I terrified of the future? Absolutely. But this time we're going to have boundaries, and I'm going to let him be in charge of his recovery. He's excited to take charge of it. I'm cautious, but I'm hopeful for a happy future together

- 87 Today was supposed to be my wedding day.
- He went into rehab 2 months ago. 4 months to go. With everything that happened I totally forgot. I woke up so sad all day and didn't know why and when I called my mom she reminded me what day it was. I broke off our engagement. I said he has to get his 1 year chip before we move back in together, let alone get engaged again. Today was supposed to be the happiest day of my life and now it's just another Saturday. Now there's a white dress hanging in my grandmothers closet that I don't know if I will ever get to wear.
