And that kid is gonna grow up to be a 3rd party bastard and it wouldn't even be his fault. Fucked up indeed.

Dont you like how in all these infidelity incidents, women never once show any empathy towards the child they just screwed over for life.

Having a nuclear family is the no.1 factor in predicting success of a person.

GlibSlob • 56 points • 3 June, 2021 11:40 AM*

They never show any empathy or remorse for anyone, ever - for any reason. The only person they feel bad about is themselves and lamenting all the nice things they can't exploit anymore.

Its like a mountain lion crying "I chipped a nail while slowly torturing that deer to death! Doesn't the deer realize how bad that made me feel? Nobody understands my pain!"

its never been a kids fault to be born a bastard, but they have always been treated like a bastard at the end of the day. There is a difference between a child being born from the marriage bed, and blessed by god, then one whose born from lust and shame. Without a father, the kid usually doesnt learn about masculinity and honor, being raised by a single mother, therefore as a general rule, Bastards are not to be trusted, for they're traitorous nature.

MDFMK • 13 points • 3 June, 2021 02:18 PM

True but funny how old fashion shamming and shunning is so effective eh and why every legal and social outcome has been pushed by feminism to remove them. Almost as if consequences rained down such as this as a social norm the risk to reward Benefits would stop some women from engaging in such actions. If someone with balls enough could push through something to confirm paternity before a birth certificate was issued a lot of these story's wouldn't happen and when they did their would be immediate consequences and accountability.

Note I only said some awalt would still be widespread but at least it could be a catalyst for real social change.

Funny how they ask the husband for child support and not the affair partner that is actually the father mariof135 • 76 points • 3 June, 2021 08:20 AM

Of course, she doesn't want to offend the affair partner after the affair partner donated his genes.

I doubt the guy will have to pay for a child that he never signed up as his own.

It's different when the wife hides it, the husband signs up the birth certificate and from that momen he becomes legally responsible for the child.

That's why women are all against mandatory paternity test at birth before signing the birth certificate.

pkarlmann • 3 points • 3 June, 2021 05:20 PM

I don't know where they are from, but in the Western world it is the norm that the Husband is automatically registered as the father no matter what. In some US states women can also name anyone as the father even if not married...

It never ceases to amaze me how many women have “one” moment of weakness and fall pregnant.. it’s ALWAYS once.. what are the odds that they just happen to get pregnant in that small window of time, when they can get pregnant, and it just so happens its that one time that she just happened to let some guy, she only just met, because whatever, and of course he just happened to shoot his load in her as they, insert reason, weren’t taking precautions.. and then after that fail to take any other measures .. and what do you know.. she’s pregnant ... its quite an unbelievable story that you seem to hear again and again..

justthinkingabout1 • 25 points • 3 June, 2021 11:20 AM 100%, it’s all bs.

alienmuseum • 24 points • 3 June, 2021 02:42 PM

Ody_ssey • 40 points • 3 June, 2021 07:56 AM

What a happy ending. Sad, the baby will suffer because of her. Part 2 of the story will be when she will expose baby's father to his family. That guy will end up paying child support for 5 kids. Play stupid games, win stupid prizes.

A moment of weakness, right. Many moments of weakness over a long time period.
Get those court filings going. In a lot of states you have 1 year to contest paternity.

sicrm • 23 points • 3 June, 2021 03:04 PM

it gets better.

I should say that he didn't take all of it. I exaggerated a bit on that. We had an account with about $50,000 in it, and he removed $45000 which leaves me not even enough to move to a new place or figure it out.. We have a prenup which states I get my contributions and he gets his in the event of a divorce because he had some rental property and our home before marriage.. I make about $25k a year and he makes about $250k a year.

she would've been set to never work, but tingles strikes again.

In sharp contrast to this are husbands ... Hire up, hard-working heroes throughout hours, hurry up to get a hoe — Pardon me, proper Garden-Tool – just to get humiliated in hindsight.

AyyGitThatHeatOnMe • 21 points • 3 June, 2021 01:45 PM

Man and woman: Have one argument.

Woman: Deliberately goes out and cheats with a guy she kept in the background for that exact purpose, without protection, without getting Plan B. Tells her husband that the baby is his.

Man: Finally learns about it and confronts her, furious. Tells their friends and family the truth.

Woman: "My husband mercilessly shattered the trust of my family! After the paternity test came back negative, he called me so many names. I don't even know who I married! How can he call a woman these things?"

Disgusting, abusive, narcissistic, and evil. This is nothing less than pure evil. Tired of pretending it's anything less.

Babaji_ki_booti • 19 points • 3 June, 2021 08:20 AM

Future is “ONLY FANS” and child support from husband. Thats how she will milk every ounce of decency from her ex husband.

Total jackpot for her? Just ask for alimony and child support?

In most countries, the child counts as her ex-husband's and is entitled to inheritance and child support from him, even though he had nothing to do with genetically producing it.

I know I screwed up MAJOR. I'm the worst. I think so lowly of myself.

I fully own this and don't need a reminder about how bad it is.

Fascinating phenomenon. Women only ever admit fault so that they don't have to admit fault. And here at MGTOW we always said women can't admit fault. Apparently they can, if only for the paradoxical result of further denying it somehow. She's probably hoping someone would come along and say "it's okay, it's not your fault" so that she herself can proceed to tell herself exactly what they tell her.

I don't even know who I married at this point.

Neither did he.

gnackered • 10 points • 3 June, 2021 03:03 PM

I like the bit where he got the kid tested "without her permission".

Smartcom5 • 1 point • 6 June, 2021 02:16 PM

Unfortunately, it might even backfire on him ... Since in many countries around the world, it's actually against the law (and even a punishable offense, being finable) if the alleged father is to engage in paternity-testing with-out explicit consent of the mother.

Except that a mother who knows damn well that she cheated on him would never allow the testing. Thus, the man and children in question is not only withheld their right to know who is the real father, but it's actively refused to the alleged father – and Daddy Government even backs up the mother here and saves the cheating woman from facing the consequences of infidelity. And not only that, the government even encourages women to cheat, since they can get away scotts-free and loot the men financially – while the only one being cripple of rights and money is the alleged father.

Even if somehow done successfully by the man and the results would show he's not the biological father, the results are null and void in court since they're performed illegally. Talking about evil, hu?

Apart from that, in many countries a husband is by default the legally responsible father and due on alimony, if the pregnancy took place during the marriage and can#t be contested, even if DNA-tests would show he's not the actual father.

tl;dr: Men are f–cked either way anyway.

Butt_fux_admins • 2 points • 3 June, 2021 11:47 PM

She "owns up to" the affire and then instantly starts trying to manipulate the reader and make herself out to be the victim. Stop trying to blame your ex husband for the consequences of your actions. You didn't lose your family/friends and boss because your husband told them. You lose the support of those people because of your own actions. If you come after your ex for child support then you are truly a demon that should not be raising a child in the first place.

YR_Entertainment • 2 points • 7 June, 2021 02:51 PM

Under the Gene Diagnostics Act of 2009, secret paternity testing is already illegal and France recently banned paternity testing entirely.
