

Would you be interested in an online magazine/blog that focuses of femininity, girly-girl, old Hollywood, elegance tips, beauty, etc? I figured that this would be a good place to ask. If so...what topics would you like to see in it? Thanks!

I so would.

Yes please! As long as it is wholesome and focussed of elegance and not the “sex sells” mentality. I would love old fashioned recipes and cleaning tips too! Also anything with modest fashion tips (by today’s standards anyway) that are practical and stylish is so hard to come by and would be awesome!

Yes!

Sure would! One of my favorite things to watch on YouTube are those classic beauty tutorials.

Love this! I’d love practical tips to a more elegant demeanor as a topic.

Yes! If you'd need any help, too, I'd be gladly on your team! I graduated in Fashion design so I could pull a few articles off, in my spare time. I had some blogs in past in my first language (English being my second...) so I'm not new to writing articles and having deadlines, but I'm too busy these days to be a blogger on my own.

It'd be amazing to have a magazine/blog that focuses on modern beauty and lifestyle for young generations of classy sorta substance. It's unclaimed territory, I think! Go for it (take me with youuuuuu haha)

That would be very interesting! It would also be nice to not only focus on Old Hollywood, but also actresses and beauty icons from other countries, as well as femininity/ beauty tips/ etc. from there. The femisphere could be a bit too much Americancentric at times, while there's too much knowledge to unveil in different cultures :)

This is a great point and there are many great feminine traditions across every culture that will still resonate today

I would subscribe, even just for sheer entertainment value. It's bound to be better than a lot of the things we look at/read.

Thank you! I’ll be sure to post the link when I make my first post! :)

Im a dude and this sounds interesting - I have no real context for traditional femininity because the only cultural exposure I get today of women is either hollywood corporate hyper-sexualization or wokeist believe all womenist "men-are-trash"-ism

It would just be nice to engage with traditional femininity without it being solely about sex, power or control on every page or article - its been so long since there was anything like that (at least from my limited male perspective) - it sounds very refreshing in this culture of death

I would definitely support. It would be so refreshing compared to the garbage lies the current culture spews out.

Also I do watercolour floral art so PM me if you want some art for the margins just to pretty things up!

I so would! Maybe call it "Breakfast at [your name]'s"? Like breakfast at Tiffany's :)

There's something like this already called Evie Magazine online ☐except it's definitely not apolitical.
