

Why do men insist on keeping women around they aren't truly attracted to? Why not go forth and find your type? Why do they like to waste their time and the time of the women they aren't attracted to?

March 11, 2021 | 39 upvotes | by SignificantCap8064

/r/AskFDS/comments/m2jm4z/why_do_men_insist_on_keeping_women_around_they/

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

HydraSkyFire • 60 points • 11 March, 2021 06:50 AM

Because they could never have the type of women they are attracted to because these women would never date them and they can't raise to their standards.

moxymoxalone • 30 points • 11 March, 2021 03:28 PM

Easy access to pussy until something better comes along. No mystery there.

donttextme_k • 2 points • 11 March, 2021 08:36 PM

Is there anything else besides sex? I had a friend date a man for 3 years and he kept pushing back about marriage. They don't have sex and hardly do anything at all but he would consistently buy things for her. Not sure what he got out of the relationship as she never acted like a maid sweet_birthday_babyy • 17 points • 11 March, 2021 02:51 PM

They want to keep you in their pocket as a backup plan.

jjlew922 • 42 points • 11 March, 2021 07:12 AM

Because they're opportunistic and IMO not great long term planners. If it works for right now, that's great. Men are allowed this in a society built to cater to them. They get something out of it by means of companionship, nurturing, therapy, mothering if they find the right woman who is willing to give them this without a commitment for the future. It's no mistake men struggle to grow up and take responsibility in today's society. So simply, it's because they can.