

We live in a feminarchy (a feminist controlled society)

1 upvotes | 29 October, 2019 | by Oncefa2

Feminism is a hugely powerful and influential movement. It effects election outcomes, it influences policy decisions, and it has shaped the very history and foundation of our society.

And today it has become the very thing that early feminists feared: a conspiratorial force that acts to make the lives of one group of people better at the expense of another. We live in a society that is shaped and molded by the forces of feminism in much the same way that feminists had once accused men (and a patriarchy) of doing.

A few examples:

- One of the earliest lobbying efforts from the feminist movement was child custody reform. New laws were passed so that mothers always received custody, and fathers had to work to pay for them through child support. Known as the tender years doctrine, these laws continue to mold and shape our divorce, child custody, and child support laws to this day.
- Our education system was reformed throughout the 20th century to benefit girls at the expense of boys. Today, widespread discrimination against young boys has been discovered in the form of teaching biases against male students. A majority of our teachers are women, and female teachers have been shown to grade male students worse for the same work.
- Feminists have distorted the narrative about domestic violence and sexual assault. Men are equally likely to be victims of violence committed by women as the reverse, but because this fact is "inconvenient" for feminism, feminists have successfully buried much of this research. Today, feminists continue to pretend that things are worse for women, and better for men, than what they actually are.

I could list more: everything from jaded rape laws that let women off the hook, to courtroom biases that discriminate against men, are all likely influenced by the forces of feminism to one degree or another.

I just think it's ironic that the closest real world example to an actual patriarchy is literally feminism itself.

A few sources:

Education bias and the role of feminism

Terrier, C. (2016). Boys Lag Behind: How Teachers' Gender Biases Affect Student Achievement (No. 10343). IZA Discussion Papers. Available from: <https://mitli.mit.edu/sites/default/files/project-documents/SEII-Discussion-Paper-2016.07-Terrier.pdf>

Hoff Sommers, C. (2000). The war against boys. Available from: <https://www.theatlantic.com/magazine/archive/2000/05/the-war-against-boys/304659/> Accessed October 21, 2019.

Sommers, C. H. (2013). The war against boys: How misguided policies are harming our young men. Simon and Schuster

Child custody discrimination

The Male Factor (2019, October 3). 37 Heart-wrenching Ways Men Are Discriminated Against. The Male Factor (TMF). Retrieved October 21, 2019, from <https://themalefactor.com/2019/10/03/37-ways-men-are-discriminated-against/> Benatar, D. (2012). The second sexism: discrimination against men and boys. John Wiley & Sons.

Rosenthal, M. B. (1995). Misrepresentation of Gender Bias in the 1989 Report of the Gender Bias Committee of the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court. Breaking The Science. Retrieved October 21, 2019, from http://www.breakingthescience.org/SJC_GBC_analysis_intro.php

Grall, T. (2018). Custodial mothers and fathers and their child support: 2015. US Census Bureau, Current Population Reports. Available from: <https://www.census.gov/content/dam/Census/library/publications/2018/demo/P60-262.pdf>

Academic fraud and influence committed by feminists (especially in relation to domestic violence)

Straus, M. A. (2010). Thirty years of denying the evidence on gender symmetry in partner violence: Implications for prevention and treatment. Partner Abuse, 1(3), 332-362. Available from: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1891/1946-6560.1.3.332>

Kelly, Linda. (2003). Disabusing the definition of domestic abuse: How women batter men and the role of the feminist state. Florida State University Law Review. 30, 791. Available from: <http://redpilluk.co.uk/How%20Women%20Batter%20Men%20and%20the%20Role%20of%20the%20Role%20of%20the%20Feminist%20State.pdf>

Wadham, B. (1996). The myth of male violence. XY: men, sex, politics, 6(1), Autumn 1996. Available online at XYonline.net: <https://xyonline.net/content/myth-male-violence>

Archived from theredarchive.com

Comments

there doesn't seem to be anything here