

What's your Strike Rate with approaching women?

Day game, night game, tinder, whatever. How many times does an approach lead to sex or something else worth your time?

Here's a rough set of data:

Conventionally Attractive and Alpha: 60% Average looking but Alpha: 50% Conventionally Attractive but somewhat beta: 40% Not very attractive but not fat, and alpha: 35% Not very attractive but not fat, and beta: 20% Unattractive, overweight, but alpha: 12(ish)% Unattractive, overweight, and beta: Even a blind squirrel finds a nut now and again.

As with any data, you will find anomalies that will skew the set such as "extremely attractive" or "extremely alpha". There are also different degrees and combinations and other variables such as environment, and outside influences, but in general, this is a good ballpark. No real way to answer your question any more precisely.

Considering I talk to basically every woman in my vicinity for the past 12 years.....I would imagine incredibly low.

Maybe I've been lucky but I usually get their number and end up making out with them about 75% of the time and hook up around 40%. This all takes place at bars or clubs and I'm very specific about who I go for. I don't just approach any girl I'm attracted to; she needs to look like she's in a good mood, with a friend or a group of friends, and she needs to be a little edgy with the occasional shit test at the start of our conversation because I like girls with a personality. If she's got a really standoffish attitude and giving me constant shit tests I'll generally bail after 5 or 10 minutes of talking to her.

On dates we end up making out almost 100% of the time but I have my dating game down to a T and honestly it's very easy. If they're off Tinder I can almost guarantee we'll fuck that night.

Mate, I'd love it if you posted a thread on your most successful tactics. I'm sure we'd all benefit, certainly

I've thought about it but TRP isn't really about seduction and I don't want to come off like a know-it-all because I'm sure there are other guys who are a lot more experienced than me. I'm not one to go out and approach 5 chicks in a night and hope that one of them sleeps with me... I have 3 girls I can call for that any time. At this point I really just go for 8's and 9's because I want a challenge, or I wingman for my brother and generally don't give a fuck about hooking up with anyone at the club. I can do a quick write up on what works for me though... I'll put it on the main page.
